BRITISH EMPIRE IS RICH IN MUCH U. S. MUST HAVE

Trade for Military Material Urged.

The Tribune presents herewith the first of a series of articles on the ability of the British empire to produce and ship much needed materials to the United States. Succeeding articles will appear in the financial section.

BY JOHN FISHER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 9.—THE TRIBUNE, after an extended investigation, is able to disclose what the British empire has to give the United States in exchange for the war materials which she expects to get under President Roosevelt's dictatorship bill.

Britain's farflung empire is fabulously wealthy in the goods which America needs. This year alone we will require more than 1 billion dollars in raw materials and other products from the far corners of the British empire.

Rubber a Prime Need.

Our British imports consist principally of indispensable commodities which we cannot produce. We need them desperately for the domestic military program and our national economy, but Britain wields the power of virtual monopoly over the commodities we need most.

We must obtain vast quantities of crude rubber from the plantations of British Malaya which, with the Dutch, French, and Siamese, controls 98 per cent of the world's rubber production; tin from British mines also in the far east; diamonds from British mines in South Africa, which control 95 per cent of the world's production of the precious gem, now of strategic military importance; nickel and asbestos from Canada; tea from oriental Ceylon and India; cocoa beans from British West Africa; jute from British India, and wool from sheep in Australia and New Zealand. Our expanding industry for military purposes thirsts for these and many other British products.

American Operation Suggested.

Trade and fiscal experts urge that Britain and her colonies buy these products and turn them over to the United States in exchange for war aid under the dictator bill.

In addition, British plantations, mines, and factories producing the materials we need are worth many billions of dollars. It has been suggested these could be turned over to the United States for operation, permitting the benefits to accrue to this country as protection for its investment and in return for the prospective amount of war materials to be supplied Britain. The treasury already has allowed up to 7 billion dollars for purchase of such war materials by the President and release to Britain.

17 Billion Investment.

No definite figure is available on the total valuation of British properties, but at the close of 1940 the United Kingdom alone had an investment of more than 17 billion dollars in all areas outside of the British Isles, according to conservative official estimates. Besides this there is the vast wealth of the dominions. Altogether, the empire covers approximately one-fourth of the world's land area.

The United States has become increasingly dependent upon the resources of this domain, recent trade figures show. In 1940 approximately 43 per cent of our total imports came from the British empire, compared with 36 per cent in 1939 and 32 per cent in 1938. American imports from the empire last year totaled 1 billion 130 million dollars, and will reach at least 1 billion 250 millions this year, according to reliable estimates.

How Imports Increase.

	1938.	1939.	1940.

Britain Takes Over Ship Industry

PLANTS, LABOR PUT UNDER RULE OF ADMIRALTY

Plea for 50,000 More Workers Sounded.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 9.—What virtually amounts to complete government control of the ship building and repairing industry in the United Kingdom was contained in an order issued today. The order places the entire industry and the disposition of labor under the admiralty. Minister of Labor Ernest Bevin, who made an appeal for another 50,000 volunteers for shipbuilding, will continue to be "responsible for the supply of labor from outside industry."

Ernest Bevin, Minister of Labor.

An explanatory memorandum on the scheme for control of the shipping industry said it is vitally important that the best possible use be made of available labor and materials to defeat the attempt of Germany to starve out Britain by intensification of the war against shipping.

Dismissals Made Difficult.

The memorandum said an "employer cannot dismiss a worker except for serious misconduct and the worker cannot leave his employment unless the shipyard controler gives his permission in writing. Before the employment of any worker can be terminated, except for serious misconduct, there must be at least one week's notice by either side."

Provision is made for approved groups of employers to release workers to other employers within the group without consent of the controler—the purpose being to make the most effective use of labor in the various districts.

Arrangement also is made whereby an employer or worker, if grieved by the decision of the district controler, can appeal to the local appeal board, which will have a chairman appointed by the ministry of labor and one member from the employer and employé groups.

Registration of Workers.

Bevin, speaking at Newcastle, asserted that registration of workers who had been engaged in trades connected with shipbuilding and repairing and who had left their trades within the last 15 years, would be accomplished by the end of the week.

He declared "an additional 50,000 people in the right categories were needed immediately. We also want a big response from women without waiting for the registration. Women are wanted mainly for shell filling work."

The government, he added, has made arrangements to assist married women with children. Local authorities are rapidly extending day nurseries in which children are cared for during the working hours of the mothers. The government is subsidizing nursery and kindergarten care for children at 10 cents a day for each child, with mothers being asked to pay an equivalent amount for food and other necessaries.

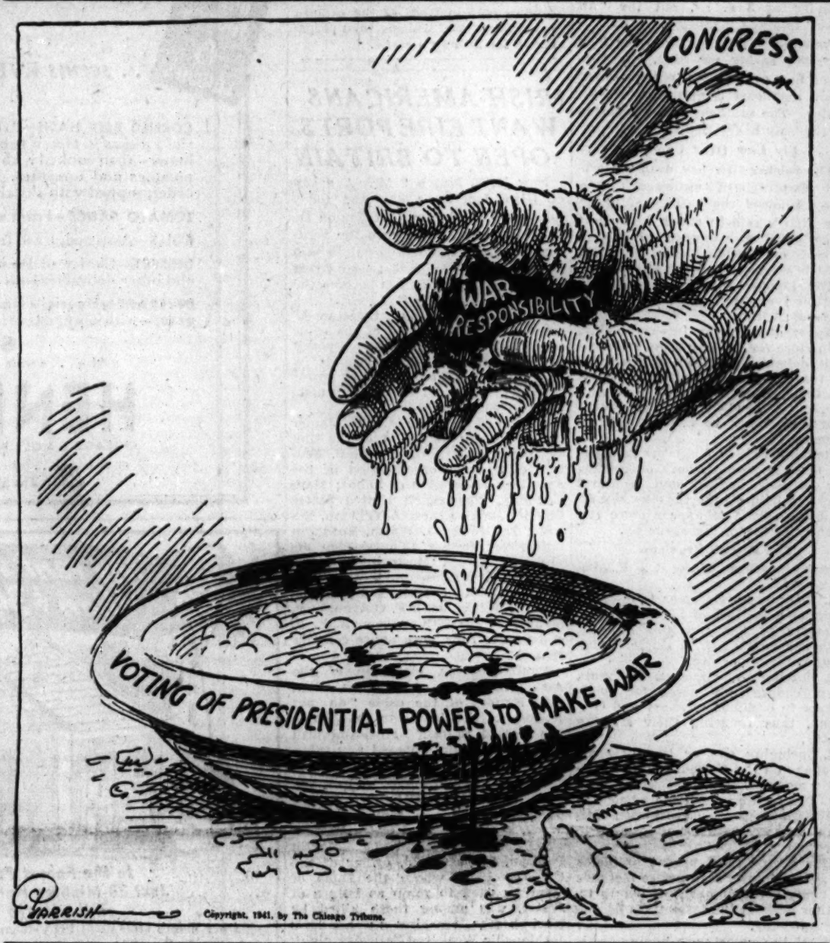
U. S. ARMY ORDERS CANS TO FLOAT GASOLINE AT SEA

Granite City, Ill., March 9 (AP).—Manufacture of a can similar to a type reportedly used by the Germans to land gasoline supplies undetected in their invasion of Norway, was begun last week under war department contract.

Frank G. Fisher, general manager of the National Enameling and Stamping company plant, said the five gallon cans would be turned out at the rate of 2,500 a day beginning next week. On order are 186,000 of the cans at a cost of $300,000. They will be delivered to mechanized units.

The cans will float when filled, with only a fraction of an inch above the surface. A galvanizing process prevents reflection of the sun's rays. The cans are 6x14 inches, with a 2 inch projection on one side that contains air.

TRYING TO WASH HIS HANDS



Young Woman Slain in Home, Body Mutilated

Kansas City, Mo., March 9 [Special].—Miss Lelia Welsh, 24 years old, a brunet beauty of the Kansas City University campus a few years ago, was stabbed and beaten to death in her bed early today in one of the most bizarre murder mysteries the city ever has known. The slayer mutilated the body and escaped.

Before the killer fled the Welsh home, he straightened the first floor bedroom to remove any signs of a struggle and rearranged the bed clothes over the young woman's pajama clad body so that her mother thought she was asleep when Mrs. Welsh went to the room at 9:30 a. m. and discovered the tragedy.

Another Home Entered.

Police believe the killer was the same man who—earlier in the night—awakened a girl of 17 in her room three miles away by kissing her. This intruder fled when the girl screamed for help.

Miss Welsh, a former school teacher at Knoxville, Ill., had attended a circus sponsored by the police on Saturday night. She was escorted by Richard W. Funk, an oil company employé who had been her admirer since college days. She returned shortly after midnight to the family home. After chatting with her mother she went to bed. Her mother heard a thud during the night, but believed it came from the furnace.

Police summoned to the home this morning found in Miss Welsh's room a stone mason's hammer, with which her skull had been crushed. A butcher knife lay near the hammer. The slayer had cut away part of the young woman's hip and carried it away, dropping it in his flight on the lawn of a neighbor.

Bedroom Window Open.

Presumably the killer had come and gone thru a window, which stood open in Miss Welsh's bedroom.

Miss Welsh's father, George F. Welsh, a retired bond salesman, was away at the family's summer home. Her brother, George Jr., was in the house, but heard no disturbance.

Medical men said that carrying away a part of the victim's body is typical of a recognized class of sex criminals.

Miss Welsh attended Western College for Women at Oxford, O., and was graduated in 1938 from Kansas City university. She was the beneficiary of a $65,000 trust fund set up by her grandfather.

DAY by DAY on the FARM By GAIL COMPTON

It has been heralded with the arrival of three long legged, wobbly Southdown lambs. Two of the lambs are twins, one black and one white. The flockmaster said it was the first black lamb the farm has had in a long time.

To the passing stranger the farms may look bleak and deserted and still in the grip of winter. But in the barns and other buildings there is great activity. The first rush of the year's work has begun.

Barns Lined with Plows.

The barns are lined with plows, disks, and seeders, greased and ready for work. The harness for the horses has been soaked and scrubbed and softened with oil.

The farm manager is giving final shape to his winter-long plans for the new crop year. Seed stocks have been inventoried, feed supplies checked, and the year's crop program is being mapped. Trees are being pruned and with the first warm days the workers will trim the grapevines and prune the orchard.

Orders have been sent to hatcheries, and 50 young turkeys are on their way to the brooder houses which the workers have been getting ready. Two hundred eggs that some day will hatch into white Plymouth Rock chicks have been put in the incubator.

Moisture Is Plentiful.

According to the farm manager there is plenty of moisture in the ground as a result of the rains and snow of this winter, but he is awaiting the spring thaws to get a definite idea of the amount of moisture the subsoil retained. The future of spring seeding of small grains looks bright now.

The "Day by Day on the Farm" department is resumed today after having been discontinued for the winter months. Now that spring is just around the corner there's much of interest going on at the farms. "Day by Day on the Farm" will report life and work there each day, as it has for more than seven years

This is the busy season for the flockmaster, as he has 61 bred ewes in his flock to watch over. Now that lambing has started, he probably will spend many nights in the barn with his charges, as the new lambs will be coming steadily now for some weeks. Aside from the bred ewes there are 14 yearling ewes which will be added to the breeding flock this year and 11 yearling bucks and one wether. So far only one lamb has been lost, and that happened when the ewe had her lamb during the cold snap several weeks ago. She was the only grade ewe in the flock, so the loss was not so great. The rest are purebred Southdowns.

Cattle Fill Feed Lots.

The feed lots at the Du Page county farm and at the Fox River farm are filled with white faced cattle. At the Du Page farm 77 Herefords weighing around 900 pounds gradually are being put on full feed. They are getting about 17 pounds of grain a day now, along with their hay. Later this will be increased to around 20 pounds a day each.

The dairy cattle are beginning to enjoy their stay outdoors now, and there is a sign of spring in the way they gently butt each other and try to frisk about in their staid, matronly manner. In the dairy barn are 11 calves, 3 bull calves, and 8 heifers.

Garden Plans Completed.

The farm families have been poring over the seed catalogs during winter evenings, and now plans have been made for the flower and vegetable gardens. Seeds have been started in specially prepared soil in flats in the greenhouse.

Chores, which were the main job during the winter, now will take a back corner in the day's activities, because the men soon will be in the fields all day long, plowing, seeding, and cultivating.

Out of all this bustle of activity will come the fields of grain, the fat cattle, the milk and eggs, and all the other foodstuff which eventually finds its way to city tables.

MAKES NO BONES ABOUT HOW WIFE BROKE HIS LEG

Detroit, Mich., March 9 (AP).—Policeman Stanley Westgate is in a hospital with a broken leg. This, he is perfectly willing to explain, is because six years ago he began to teach his wife jujitsu.

Westgate and his 114 pound wife were in the midst of enlightening an audience of women on what to do if any ever met up with a purse snatcher or a "throat choker." Everything went well until the 190 pound policeman grabbed his wife by the throat. Then—"She broke my grip, clamped on a three-quarter Nelson and, with the firemen's lift, tossed me right off the platform," related Westgate, adding:

"It was the most humiliating experience of my life."

AMERICA FIRST LAUNCHES NEW MEMBER DRIVE

Airplanes, Warships and Arms All Set to Go.

A nation-wide membership drive, America First chapters in every state, special trains touring the country with prominent speakers making rear platform appearances, massmeetings, radio speeches, lectures, press campaigns—all these plans were announced by national officials of the America First committee yesterday in their resolute campaign to keep the United States out of war.

The fight to keep the nation at peace has just begun, they said, despite passage by congress of President Roosevelt's war dictatorship bill.

Antiwar campaigns greater than ever before are planned by the committee which grew in six months from a small group that met in one room in the Board of Trade building to 650 chapters thruout the United States with a total enrollment of more than 500,000 active members, plus hundreds of thousands more who signed petitions or indorsed the principles of the organization.

Trains to Tour Country.

National headquarters announced the following program:

1. Three special trains staffed with noninterventionist speakers will tour the nation during the next few weeks, rallying public opinion against the sending of American naval convoys to Europe and other moves which would plunge the United States into war.
2. All chapters will launch new membership drives immediately.
3. Field organizers will leave national headquarters to form units in every state.
4. Leaders in the senate battle against the war measure will speak at massmeetings in all parts of the country under the auspices of local America First committees.
5. Other speakers will deliver radio addresses, and transcriptions of their speeches will be furnished small radio stations thruout the nation without charge.

Illinois Goal; Million Members!

Meanwhile the America First committee of Illinois set a goal of 1,000,000 members to carry on in this state the fight against dictatorship and war, and made plans for the establishment of America First chapters in every city and town in Illinois. Forty-six chapters are now functioning in the state.

Since last September it has printed and distributed 1,500,000 folders and pamphlets, 500,000 automobile stickers, 750,000 America First buttons, and 15,000 large posters for public buildings.

Answers 100,000 Questions.

It has answered 100,000 separate requests for information and posted more than 750,000 pieces of mail.

More than 700,000 signatures demanding defeat of the dictator bill were gathered by the Chicago chapter alone. This unit also tabulated 328,000 protest telephone calls.

The America First legislative office in Washington provided a running analysis of the dictator bill and its amendments for senators, representatives, and chapter officials. A weekly news letter was mailed to 1,250 speakers.

More than 2,600 transcriptions of radio addresses by noted speakers were sent to radio stations. Thousands of massmeetings thruout the nation were held. A movie, "America First," was shown by hundreds of chapters.

Battle Just Beginning.

"But that," said R. Douglas Stuart Jr., national director, "is only the beginning.

"The fight we made on the war bill was an important battle, but it was not all. We still think the country can stay out of foreign conflict because the people do not want war.

"We propose to continue to give that sentiment of the people an effective means of expression."

The drive to expand the membership of the Illinois America First committee will begin today, said Mrs. Janet Ayer Fairbank, vice chairman. The 700,000 persons who signed petitions calling for defeat of the dictator bill will be asked to become active members, she said. State-wide membership is now 66,000.

Talk of Convoys

Baltimore, Md., March 9 (AP).—Former United States Senator Ernest W. Gibson of Vermont, national chairman of the Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies, told a massmeeting today that if England should be prevented from getting war materials under its own protection then "the time must come for the United States to convoy materials."

Senator Claude Pepper [D., Fla.], who also spoke at the meeting, asserted that H. R. 1776 [the dictator bill] did not give the President dictatorial powers, but "it is a mandate thrust upon President Roosevelt to defend the freedom of the world."

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 9.—Numerous warships and auxiliary naval craft, army airplanes, and enormous quantities of other military material are in readiness for transfer to Great Britain, Greece, and China as soon as President Roosevelt's war dictator bill becomes law this week.

Following these immediate transfers of existing army and navy weapons there will be poured overseas a steady stream of airplanes, ships, and miscellaneous arms now being produced by American industry and financed by appropriations already voted by congress. For rearming the United States congress has appropriated up to date more than 28 billion dollars, a large part of which will be expended for arming Britain and allied nations.

Wants More Money.

To carry out the dictator bill the President will ask congress for an additional 10 billion dollars, of which from 5 to 7 billions will be in appropriations and the remainder in authorization of future expenditures to prosecute the European and Asiatic wars.

Another expected consequence of the dictator legislation is a shakeup in the existing organization for the mobilization of industry and the creation of new agencies, possibly involving the replacement of William S. Knudsen by a new czar of arms production. For the czar's job Wendell L. Willkie and Harry L. Hopkins are figuring most prominently in the speculation.

"Emergency" Is Possibility.

Still another possible result of the dictatorship legislation is the declaration by the President of a complete emergency which would place the country on a virtual war footing tho still at peace. After the beginning of the European war in 1939 the President declared a limited emergency which still obtains and under which he exercises greater powers than he otherwise would.

Under the personal direction of President Roosevelt the war and navy departments and other government agencies have been rushing the preparations for giving aid to the axis foes the moment it becomes legal to dispose of existing military equipment to belligerents. Inventories of material which the army and navy heads deem it possible to spare without impairing our own national defense have been completed and submitted to the President.

Much Equipment Ready.

Most of the large bombing planes are ready to be flown directly to England. Likewise most of the naval vessels to be loaned or leased or otherwise transferred are at eastern ports ready for departure. Large quantities of arms and ammunition and other material are being assembled on docks or at arsenals.

The greatest secrecy surrounds the preparations for carrying the war dictatorship bill into effect. The types and amounts of military equipment furnished the overseas belligerents will not be disclosed by the administration in the immediate future at least. The navy department has taken precautions against publication of the departure of naval craft transferred to Britain. Not for three months under the terms of the bill will the President be required to submit his

GERMAN RAIDERS HAMMER LONDON 3 TIMES IN NIGHT

Attacks on Britain Spread Over Wide Area.

LONDON, March 10, Monday (AP).—The German air force smashed at London three times last night and early today and sent its bombers roaring over Britain in a spurt of widespread raiding such as Britons have not seen for weeks.

High explosive and incendiary bombs thundered down on London in a 4 hour raid before midnight. The "all-clear" after that heavy assault was brief, however. The Germans returned to the capital shortly after midnight. The attack lasted about an hour. The third alarm for the night sounded at 3 a. m., but the "all clear" followed it quickly.

Apparently swinging into the long expected spring air blitz, the Germans flew over several coastal towns from northeast Scotland to South Wales. The southeast coast reported particularly heavy flights.

Fly Low Over Capital.

The raiders flew low over the capital despite stiff antiaircraft fire. They followed the pattern of Saturday night's raid in which Londoners were killed or wounded while they danced or dined. Moonlight and light breezes favored the attackers.

The London raid followed widely scattered daylight attacks on other parts of Britain.

Apparently fearing intense raiding is in store for the city soon, London's civil defense commissioners ordered all the capital's authorities to report on their preparedness to deal with fire, and warned firewatching squads that they "must be more completely organized."

Reliable British observers said the air force is rushing work on a number of new tactical and technical tricks to hold off the German sky armadas expected to appear more frequently as the spring opens up.

The British Problems.

Major problems of the R. A. F. command are:

1. Beating the Germans to development of a method of handling great numbers of bombers and fighters, both day and night, in single formations while under fire.

2. Forcing the Germans to vacate their channel air bases for fields deeper in occupied territory and Germany, thus reducing their striking power.

3. Springing one or two new air weapons on the Germans at the strategic moment.

4. Distributing available planes in the right proportions to match German air strength from Iceland to Greece and Africa.

One of the most urgent problems of air strategists is to devise methods of using great numbers of planes together without the formations becoming unwieldy.

What the experts are hoping for is progress in organization to the point where the formations can be kept intact with the precision of shock cavalry of the old-time ground armies.

There is strict silence among authorities on any new air weapons in store, but one respected expert, Maj. Oliver Stewart, declared "we have only begun to develop the means of achieving technical surprise," whereas German secret weapons "have mostly been exploited and exploded."

DYNAMITE FOUND IN CULVERT.

Morton Grove county highway police found four cases of dynamite sticks and a charger yesterday in a water filled culvert near 25th avenue and the Indiana Harbor Belt Line railroad tracks in Melrose Park. They said they believed the dynamite had been stolen.

Hollywood's Best

Hollywood, Cal., March 9 [Special].—Ruth Petersen, stand-in for Rita Hayworth, and Mozelle Miller, who plays the same rôle for Merle Oberon, have been voted the most beautiful stand-ins in the film capital. They were chosen for the honor by the Studio Spotlighters' association. Standins pose in front of the camera to relieve stars of waiting thru preparations for filming a scene.

IRISH AMERICANS WANT EIRE PORTS OPEN TO BRITAIN

New York, March 9 (AP).—A group of Irish Americans disclosed today they had cabled President Eamon De Valera asking him to open the western ports of Ireland to Great Britain because "the lifeline between Great Britain and America has become the lifeline of civilization."

"This lifeline is threatened," asserted the 129 signers of the cable sent Friday. "It is the declared policy of the United States to keep it intact and Ireland has it in her power to take the greatest step toward making this policy effective."

Signers of the cable included James Byrne, former chancellor of the University of New York; Frank P. Fenton, director of organization of the American Federation of Labor; Marc Connelly, playwright; United States District Judge Ernest A. O'Brien, Detroit; Dr. James J. Walsh, Fordham university; former Congressman Joseph A. Conry, Boston; Professor Charles C. O'Donnell, De Paul university, Chicago; Christopher T. Emmet Jr., writer; John F. O'Ryan, commander of the 27th division A. E. F. and former New York police commissioner.

Paul O'Dwyer, chairman of the American Friends of Irish Neutrality, said signers of the cable "do not represent Irish-American thought in the United States." Irish-American societies, he said, opposed any interference with Irish neutrality.

Bomb Kills London Cafe Owner, Friend of Windsor

LONDON, March 9 (AP).—Martin Poulsen, 51 years old, owner of the Café de Paris where the Duke of Windsor used to romp as Prince of Wales, was among those killed by Nazi bombs crashing in London's fashionable West End Saturday night. Ken Johnson, 27, leader of the dance band and some of his orchestra members recruited from the British West Indies also were killed.

EL MAGNIFICO, BULLFIGHTER, TOSSED BY BULL

MEXICO CITY, March 9 (AP).—El Magnifico, the fallen idol of the bull ring, was downed by the first bull he tackled today in his comeback campaign from "supreme disgrace," but recovered and dispatched three bulls.

The high humiliation of having failed to best a bull last Sunday was upon Lorenzo Garza when he went forth to redeem himself in the tense arena this afternoon. He started brilliantly and had hardly begun when he won the approving cry of "Ole!" But after a series of passes, he was caught on the horns of the bull and hurled to the ground, half stunned. He killed the bull, however, after a few minutes without ever having recovered fully from the impact of his fall.

The wind made his cape work difficult and swirling dust added to his troubles. He left the ring after his third and final bull amid jeers and cheers. Some threw flowers while other angrily hurled cushions, oranges, and wadded paper.

MARTIN LIGHT DIES AT 93.

Leaf River, Ill., March 9 [Special].—Martin Light, 93, member of a pioneer Ogle county family, died yesterday at the home of a son, Wilbur, near here. He was a former supervisor of Leaf River township and served at one time on the school board. He leaves five children, 10 grandchildren and four great-grandchildren. Funeral services will be Monday.

BRITISH REJECT HOOVER PLAN TO FEED BELGIUM

Contend Program Would Aid Nazi War Effort.

Washington, D. C., March 9 (AP).—The British government, declaring it would be "false humanitarianism" to admit foodstuffs into any German occupied territory, tonight announced the rejection of Herbert Hoover's new proposal to establish soup kitchens in Belgium as an experiment in European relief.

The British embassy's statement said the government had "considered afresh the whole problem of relief, including the proposal for the institution of soup kitchens in Belgium," and still was determined not to weaken or undermine the blockade "by the admission of supplies from overseas into any territory under enemy control."

Warns of Stunted Bodies.

In reply, the former President said "the stark fact is that millions of children, and the weak, are threatened with stunted bodies and death in the occupied lands unless relief if brought to them. . . . It is no false humanity which saves the lives of countless children."

The British embassy supplied Mr. Hoover, honorary chairman of the Committee on Food for the Small Democracies, with a copy of its statement in advance of its general release.

In his reply, which was released simultaneously, the former President said his committee believed the British had prepared their statement "before they were fully informed upon the undertakings we have now secured."

Too Little to Sustain Life.

The food situation in the occupied countries, Mr. Hoover said, "is far worse than the British statement would seem to indicate," adding that the Belgian ration was down to "less than half necessary to maintain life."

The Hoover proposal, made on Feb. 16, was submitted to both the British and German governments. The state department immediately disclaimed any support of it, asserting that Germany alone was responsible for the welfare and feeding of the civilian populations in conquered territory.

The embassy statement recognized that there was "a body of opinion in the United States and elsewhere which, with motives which cannot be impugned, would like to be able to play an effective part in the prevention or relief of distress."

Sympathy with British.

Mr. Hoover said that in arguing for the plan "we wish no misunderstanding of our sympathy with the British cause, or that we have any doubt that the original plight of the people in the small democracies is due to the German invasion. . . . The purpose of this committee is to raise a voice for those millions of helpless among the little nations who have been our lifelong national friends."

Mr. Hoover said the plan contemplated the feeding of 1 million destitute adults and 2 million children at soup kitchens. To augment the supplies from the United States, he said, the plan "called for 1 million bushels of bread grains per month from German sources." The plan was submitted to the Belgian government in London which "urged it strongly upon the British government," Mr. Hoover said.

The British statement contended that the question was not simply one of insuring that any supplies admitted were "consumed only by the subject peoples for whom they are intended" but whether the "German economy is thereby relieved in another direction."

The British people themselves, it was said, were accepting privations and lower living standards to allow shipping space for war materials. "The British government are satisfied that relief of countries in enemy occupation would, whatever the conditions might be, postpone the day of victory," the statement said.

RUSSIAN WHEAT ARRIVES TO AID BELGIAN RELIEF

BRUSSELS, Belgium, March 9 [Via Berlin] (AP).—Several carloads of Russian wheat arrived here today to aid in relieving an acute food shortage. It was the first shipment arranged under a Belgian-Russian trade deal.

Another brighter aspect of the food situation was an increase in fish supplies because of German-Belgian action in seizing 500 tons which it was said was being cornered by merchants operating an illegal market in which fish sold for as high as $1.25 per pound.

In one court case recently it was found that a knife battle between two cousins was precipitated when one discovered that a skinned carcass he bought from the other as a rabbit turned out to be a cat.

MOVE TO DEPORT WOMAN PRYING IN ARMY SECRETS

New York, March 9 [Special].—A mystery woman with a penchant for entertaining American sailors and soldiers and seeking from them information on navy and army activities, was under detention in Ellis Island today, slated for immediate deportation.

The woman, Mrs. Celia Schonholtz, 42 years old, of Manhattan, was picked up yesterday.

The charge under which she was booked by police was that in applying for citizenship in 1926 on her arrival from Kolaney, Austria, she failed to state that she had once been arrested in Austria for prostitution. Officials admitted that resurrection of a case involving only moral turpitude after 15 years was "unusual." One expressed the private opinion that the prostitution angle was revived only so she could be picked up without placing more serious charges on the police record.

Neighbors of Mrs. Schonholtz said she had been active in recent months in talking to sailors and soldiers whenever she got the opportunity. Uniformed men confided to friends that she had questioned them closely about military matters. Witnesses said that a "well dressed and distinguished looking" man had been an almost daily visitor at her apartment.

CHICAGO TROOPS REACH NASHVILLE ON WAY TO CAMP

BY CLAY GOWRAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Nashville, Tenn., March 9.—The first detachment of 200 officers and men of the 108th quartermaster regiment, 33d division, arrived here at 6:15 tonight in a motor truck convoy to spend their second night on the road since leaving Chicago.

The men had been on the road since 7:30 this morning, driving the 223 miles from Vincennes, Ind., where they slept last night. The troops are quartered in the gymnasium of Vanderbilt university here. Early tomorrow they will be routed from bed to complete their trip to Camp Forrest, 75 miles south, where the division will go into training.

A series of mechanical troubles in some of the old convoy trucks delayed the detachment in its 463 mile drive to Nashville. Five trucks broke down within 125 miles of Chicago.

Tonight most of the soldiers, tired by the long drive in the rough riding 1½ ton trucks, climbed into their army cots immediately after dinner. Maj. Paul W. Jones commands the detachment.

Atlanta, Ga., March 9 (AP).—Two soldiers of the 62d signal battalion were killed and 14 injured at Fort McPherson early today when a wall collapsed while they were fighting fire in an abandoned stable building.

Post Adjutant Captain James M. Emigh listed the dead as Tommy Moffett of Homestead, Fla., and Ottice R. Simpson of Atlanta.

Of the injured, only one, 2d Lieutenant James E. Cox of Atlanta, was hurt seriously, Emigh said. The injured, all but one from the south, were being treated at the post hospital.

Emigh said the cause of the fire had not been determined. The brick constructed building, out of use for several months, was designed to house 100 horses. Atlanta firemen were called to assist after the wall collapsed, but the flames were confined to the one building.

BRITISH RACE 50 MILES DAILY IN ETHIOPIAN DRIVE

Natives Pursue Italians in Second Sector.

CAIRO, Egypt, March 9 (AP).—British forces in Italian Somaliland, advancing at the rate of nearly 50 miles daily in their drive aimed at Ethiopia, have occupied the town of Gabre-Darra on the vast Ogaden plateau. This was announced by the middle east command today. At Gabre-Darra, the British were about 240 miles from Harrar, which is in east central Ethiopia.

These forces, military spokesman said, apparently intend to cut the vital railway line which runs from the port of Djibouti on the gulf of Aden to Addis Ababa, Ethiopian capital, which is about 200 miles west of Harrar.

The advance began March 5. The troops followed the main road which runs from Mogadiscio, Somaliland capital, to Harrar.

Italians in Full Flight.

From Harrar it is only a few miles to Diredawa on the railway. There the country is hillier but dispatches yesterday said the Italians were in full flight. The swift British advance was accompanied, a communique said, by fresh successes of the native Ethiopian forces fighting the Italians in the Goljam district northwest of Addis Ababa.

These "patriots," the British said, were vigorously pursuing the Italian garrison which abandoned Burye south of Lake Tsana on March 4.

A middle east R. A. F. communique said British bombers attacked the harbor of Tripoli in western Libya Friday night and hit railway lines there, as well as airdromes in Tripolitania.

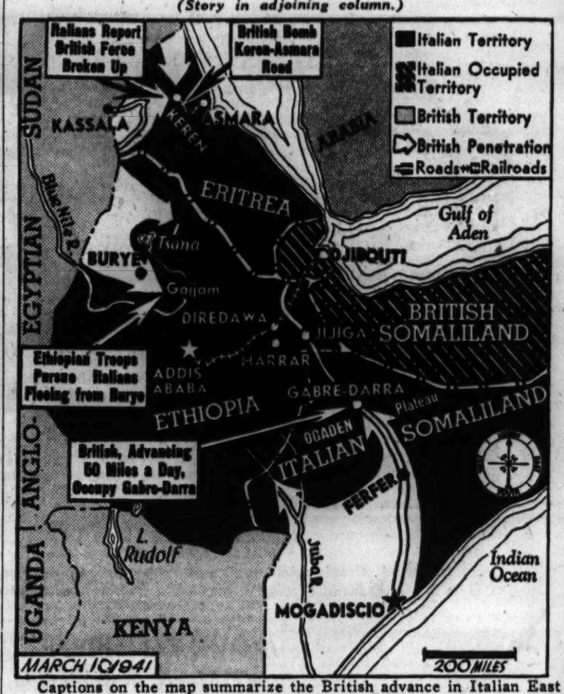
R. A. F. bombers, the communique said, also "inflicted considerable damage" on the road which connects the Eritrean railway town of Keren, under siege for several weeks, with Asmara, the Eritrean capital, and that South African fighting planes machine gunned and burned out two oil dumps south of Asmara.

Italians Bomb Bengazi.

ROME, March [illegible] (AP).—Italian planes bombed Bengazi, Libya, now in the hands of the British, and a nearby British air base, the Italian high command reported today.

British Speed Toward Ethiopia

(Story in adjoining column.)



Captions on the map summarize the British advance in Italian East Africa, including the swift drive from the south apparently aimed at the railroad to Addis Ababa.

CHINESE CLAIM 2 COAST TOWNS ARE RECAPTURED

HONGKONG, March 10, Monday (AP).—Chinese troops in vigorous counterattacks recaptured the Kwangtung province cities of Tinpak and Shuitung from Japanese soldiers, Chinese sources reported today in direct opposition to Japanese claims that their men had withdrawn quietly yesterday.

The Chinese version was that the Japanese fled to their warships, suffered some 200 casualties and lost a large quantity of war material. The Chinese also said Japanese troops in the Pakhoi area on the south China coast were routed.

The Japanese, on the other hand, reported last night that they had withdrawn from the several points on the coast after achieving "startling results" in landing operations on March 3.

SOLDIER FORGIVES HIS ERRANT WIFE; NAZIS LET HER GO

Interest of Community Is Thus Defended.

BY ALEX SMALL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, March 9.—Adulterers in Germany may go unpunished provided the wronged husband forgives his erring wife, upholds the holy bonds of matrimony, and thus defends the interests of the community of the German people.

That is the gist of a decision handed down by the supreme court of the German reich in Leipzig yesterday in reversing a previous decision by a special court which had upheld the right of the "insulted" husband to demand reparation. The report of the proceedings gives no names of the parties to the case.

The fact that the husband in question was a soldier at the front while his wife committed her act of infidelity made the case against the adulterer especially grave, since all crimes perpetrated under "war conditions" are subject to the severest penalties.

The supreme court held that since the injured husband had chosen to forgive his mate instead of suing for divorce no case of adultery could be made out. Hence the adulterer could not be punished. According to the supreme court the interest of the community of the people in the preservation of the marriage outweighed even in this case its interest in the punishment of the wrongdoer.

RUSSIA REPORTED MASSING TROOPS CLOSE TO TURKEY

Believed Precaution Should Nazi Troops Strike.

BELGRADE, Jugo-Slavia, March 9 (AP).—Russia was said in diplomatic quarters tonight to be concentrating troops in the Caucasus, near the Turkish frontier, as a precaution against German forces which appeared ready to smash into Greece and perhaps Turkey.

These reports said soviet action, closely following strengthening of Red army forces on the Prut river frontier with German occupied Rumania, is explained by a desire of the Moscow government to make sure of its defenses if Germany goes thru Turkey.

The attitude of Turkey herself, however, still was obscure. Some of the Turkish press, which usually reflects government opinion, stressed the nation's will for peace at all costs while other newspapers, equally subject to editorial direction by the government, continued a violent anti-German campaign.

Report Split in Cabinet.

Diplomatic sources interpreted this as meaning that Turkey has not yet made up her mind what to do in the face of Nazi armies massing in Bulgaria. There have been persistent reports from Ankara that the Turkish government is divided, with some members holding out for acceptance of Adolf Hitler's assurances.

Others have been reported fighting stubbornly for assistance to Greece against any German attack on the ground that as soon as Greece should be finished it would be Turkey's turn.

Greek newspapers said that in the face of the German concentrations in Bulgaria the nation looked calmly to the future unmoved "by threats and demonstrations of force."

The Athens newspaper Hestia described the determination of the Greek people to resist to the utmost as a "moral victory which is altering the whole political and war picture. Already . . . the Greeks may feel assured that all possible assistance is being and will be rendered them by the British."

Jugo-Slavs Friendly to Axis.

Jugo-Slavia was generally believed ready to fall into line with the axis, without, however, signing up as a full fledged member.

She was expected to send her foreign minister, Aleksander Cincar-Markovitch, to Berlin or Berchtesgaden Tuesday to sign a treaty of friendship with Germany.

The Polish, Belgian, and Dutch diplomatic missions to Bulgaria, accompanied by about 50 of their nationals, left Sofia for Istanbul. They were bidden farewell by British Minister George W. Rendel, whose own mission is scheduled to follow tomorrow night, and by American, Turkish, and Greek diplomats.

PITTSFIELD RESIDENT KILLED.

Pittsfield, Ill., March 9 [Special].—Russell Callendar, a Pittsfield oil dealer, was killed last night when his motor car left the highway near here and struck a concrete abutment.

Red Troops Reported Near Turkey

(Story in adjoining column.)

Developments in the turbulent Balkans yesterday included reports that Russia had moved troops close to Turkey in the Caucasas apparently as a safeguard against German invasion.

4 KILLED, MANY HURT IN FOOD RIOTS IN SYRIA

DAMASCUS, Syria, March 8 (AP).—Four persons were killed and scores injured today as police and troops broke up street demonstrations against the French government's new food distribution regulations.

High Commissioner Gen. Henri Dentz arrived to direct suppression of the outbreaks here and at Aleppo. At Beirut strong detachments of troops patroled the streets and preserved quiet.

[Syria is cut off from France and French Africa by the war in the Mediterranean. Authorities remain loyal to the Vichy government, but dispatches have told of efforts by De Gaullist sympathizers to swing Syria and the French troops there over to the "Free French" side as allies of Britain.]

GERMANS CLAIM SHIP SINKINGS OF 28,000 TONS

BERLIN, March 9 (AP).—At least 28,000 tons of British shipping were claimed by the high command today as victims of Nazi air and U-boat raiders. Submarines, it said without elaborating, "report sinking 18,000 tons of enemy shipping space."

Germany's aerial sea raiders also were credited in the daily communique with sinking a 10,000 ton merchantman with a direct bomb hit in St. George's channel, between the Irish sea and the Atlantic.

In addition, in raids on two other British convoys in the Atlantic and off the English southeast coast, the German air force was said to have left two "large ships" listing from bomb hits.

2 Firemen Die; 2 Missing in Theater Fire; 12 Hurt

Brockton, Mass., March 10, Monday (AP).—Two firemen perished, two are missing, and a dozen others were injured in a fire which swept the Strand theater early today. The missing firemen and those injured were caught in the structure when a roof collapsed. Rescuers pulled the injured firemen from the flaming building. The blaze started about an hour after patrons had left the theater.

FRANCE TO SHUN HELP IN GUARDING AFRICAN EMPIRE

VICHY, France, March 9 (AP).—France's African empire will be defended against any outside attack "by French forces alone," it was announced officially today at a luncheon given by Admiral Jean Darlan, vice premier, for Gen. Maxime Weygand.

Gen. Maxime Weygand.

Gen. Weygand, generalissimo of the allied forces when France fell out of the war last June, recently returned from French Africa, where he commands the large army there.

"The eventual defense of our African empire against an outside attack was "specially examined" at a conference preceding the luncheon, a communique said.

MUSSOLINI VISITS ITALIAN TROOPS IN TEPELENI ZONE

Two from His Cabinet Are War Casualties.

WITH GREEK FORCES ON THE CENTRAL ALBANIAN FRONT, March 9 (AP).—Premier Mussolini made an unheralded inspection tour of Fascist defenses around the besieged city of Tepeleni early last week, captured Fascist officers disclosed today. These officers also declared two members of Mussolini's cabinet who left their posts in Rome to go to the front lines have been killed or wounded since the Greeks began a new drive last Friday.

The cabinet members were identified by the captured men as Minister of Education Giuseppe Bottai and Undersecretary of Corporations Tullio Cianetti. Both were said to have been in the ninth Julia division known to have been decimated yesterday on the shell scarred heights of a mountain.

Arrives in Armored Car.

Il Duce arrived at the Albanian front in an armored car and looked over the Italian positions shortly before the Greeks began their current offensive. He passed thru areas heavily bombed by the Greek air force. His presence was made known to virtually all officers at the front.

The captured Fascist officers said Gen. Ugo Cavallero, Italian chief of staff sent to Albania to attempt to regain lost ground, has returned to Italy after failing to revive the army's offensive power. The Albanian command was taken, they said, by Gen. Carlos Gelloso.

The prisoners said the Greek infantry assaults and artillery barrages were the "most difficult we have experienced in three wars—Ethiopian, Spanish, and French border last June."

Greeks Take New Positions.

ATHENS, March 9 (AP).—Greek forces on the central Albanian front occupied mountain positions forming a highly important part of the Italian defenses after smashing a sudden Italian counterattack, it was reported today.

In the air, the British said, their bombers supported Greek army operations yesterday with an attack on Italian troop concentrations and motor transport in Tepeleni and on the Gilave-Buzi road.

Italians Claim Success.

ROME, March 9 (AP).—Heavy losses were inflicted on Greek forces in Albania when the Italians "sharply repulsed" an assault and launched their own counterattack, the high command declared today.

TAVERN RAIDERS TAKE PHONE SLUGS.

26,538 ITALIANS KILLED, HURT, OR MISSING IN MONTH

ROME, March 9 (AP).—At least 26,538 soldiers were killed, wounded, or reported missing in fighting during February in Albania and Africa, the Italian high command reported tonight. The communique said 2,667 soldiers were killed; 5,576 wounded, and 18,295 missing on all fronts. The causualty list was incomplete, it was stated.

The dead included 2,386 Italians and 14 Albanians on the Greek front; 127 Italians in East Africa; 68 in North Africa, 35 in the navy, and 37 in the air corps.

The wounded on the Greek front was put at 4,841 and the missing at 5,590 Italians and 42 Albanians. Those missing in North Africa totaled 12,280, the communique said.

BRITISH TELL HOW ITALIAN RAIDER WAS DESTROYED

Goes Down Aflame After Indian Ocean Battle.

LONDON, March 9 (AP).—The British admiralty revealed today the story of how a fast, powerfully armed Italian sea raider masquerading in the Indian ocean as a British merchantman was caught and sunk in a battle with a British cruiser.

It identified the ship as the 3,670 ton Ramb I., owned by the Italian government, mounting four 4.7 inch guns and capable of better than 18 knots.

When the Leander, a 7,270 ton British cruiser of the New Zealand squadron, challenged the raider, the admiralty said, the raider hauled down its red ensign—the flag of British merchantmen—hoisted its true Italian colors and opened fire.

The Leander returned the fire and the raider struck its flag. The admiralty said 11 officers and 89 men were captured and that the Ramb I. burned and sank.

Naval communiques previously had mentioned only German raiders in that vital area along Britain's empire lifeline between the British isles and the orient and destruction of a Fascist surface raider caused general surprise in British naval circles.

The Indian ocean has been a stalking ground for naval prowlers since the beginning of the war and both sides have accused the other of sailing under false colors.

Several ships recently have disappeared on voyages taking them into the Indian ocean and maritime circles count them as victims of axis raiders.

Army Plane Falls Into Bay; One Officer Feared Dead

Marshfield, Ore., March 9 (AP).—An army attack plane, en route from Salt Lake City, Utah, to Hamilton field, California, crashed into Coos bay tonight after running out of fuel. The pilot, Maj. R. C. McDonald, was believed dead. Lieut. J. J. Trauenight escaped serious injury. He crawled from the rear cockpit of the submerged craft to shore, 30 feet away. Coast guardsmen tried vainly to chop their way into the cockpit to McDonald, who had messaged that he was lost and preparing to bail out.

Illness Halts Army Dogs; End Alaska Trip by Air

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, March 9 (AP).—Thirty-five dogs sent by the army on an experimental mushing expedition from Chilkoot barracks to Fairbanks will end the trip by air. After mushing a third of the way, half the dogs became ill with distemper, immobilizing the 10 man unit. Brig. Gen. S. B. Buckner sent bombing planes to pick up the dogs.

Agent of British in U. S. Is Found Shot to Death

New York, March 9 [Special].—George H. Hodges, 65, socially prominent engineer employed by the British purchasing commission, was found dead today of gunshot wounds in the bedroom of his apartment. Police said a shotgun lay beside the body. Hodges' body was discovered by his wife, who had been away from the apartment. Papers found on a desk indicated he had been making out an income tax return.

Milk Mixture for Stomach Ulcer Pains

A recent medical discovery now being used by doctors and hospitals everywhere has proven unusually successful in the treatment of stomach ulcer pains caused from excess acid. It is a harmless preparation yet so effective that in many cases the pains of stomach ulcers disappear almost immediately after it is used. Also recommended for gas pains, indigestion and heartburn due to hyperacidity. Sufferers may now try this at home by obtaining a bottle of Lurin from their druggist. Lurin contains this new discovery in its purest form. Easy to take. Just mix two teaspoonfuls in a half glass of milk. Costs but little and sold under an absolute guarantee that it must satisfy or money refunded. Lurin for sale by Walgreen, Stineway, Service, Fay and drug stores everywhere.

DOVER IGNORES WAR; PLANS FOR SPRING PLANTING

Business in Some Cases Better than Usual.

BY STANLEY JOHNSTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

DOVER, England, March 9.—There is little indication that the population expects a German invasion of this sector soon. Instead of preparing to leave, householders seem mainly concerned with preparing their gardens for spring planting. In Dover and nearby Folkestone business is going on as usual. In many cases it is better than usual.

In Folkestone there was little to indicate that any moment bombs might rain down from the heavy low clouds overhead—the streets of the shopping area were crowded with business men and women going about their affairs. I was told that things had been quiet in that area, apart from occasional heavy bombs which destroyed a number of houses.

Householders everywhere were transplanting flowers, setting out vegetables, pruning fruit trees, exchanging fertilized plant seeds with neighbors, and placing wire netting over newly planted beds to keep off dogs and cats.

Stock Raising Area.

This is essentially a stock raising area and the farmers were busy preparing their fields for fodder crops. Fine farm animals are raised here and the people are working fast to take advantage of the high prices and assured market which England gives now to farm products, which cannot be obtained from the continent as before.

The fishing boats were at work, their crews satisfied to risk mines and bombs because they get higher prices for their catches and feel they are doing something to help the war effort.

A vaudeville show in the Dover Hippodrome played to capacity houses, featuring a modified strip tease act. The movies are showing American films.

Plenty of Money Flowing.

Bars and restaurants are doing a big business because there is plenty of work and money to be spent. Two amusement halls filled with American pinball machines and a shooting gallery which advertised, "Learn to shoot a Hun here," also were busy.

Since last August hundreds of families have lived in the numerous caves dug into the chalk cliffs by French prisoners during the Napoleonic wars. The people have moved in their furniture and set up oil cookers. The caves are warm and dry and seem quite comfortable.

The mayor of Dover has approached the mayors of adjoining coast towns seeking their support of a petition asking the government to make the removal of children compulsory. Since Christmas hundreds of children sent away by their parents last year have returned and now play in the streets.

Authorities of Deal already have notified parents that the schools there will not reopen this year. The Dover mayor, on the other hand, declares he must try to provide some schooling if the children remain.

DANES TO SURVIVE NAZI CONQUEST, ENVOY PREDICTS

Denmark will survive the Nazi conquest and rise again as a free nation, Henrik de Kauffmann, Danish minister to the United States, predicted in a speech last night at a dinner in the Stevens hotel marking the 50th anniversary of the Danish Old People's home in Chicago.

"We have strength in what our fathers did," he said, "and that gives us hope for the future. We want to retain our way of life, and we will do our share to rebuild Europe when the war is over."

Does Your Breath Broadcast—"I WEAR FALSE TEETH"?

Play Safe—Be Sure—Use Polident

People who wear plates or bridges often suffer from a special kind of bad breath. Dentists call it—"denture breath."

You won't know if you have it—but it can spoil your happiness. Friends will shudder—people avoid you! And the worst of it is that ordinary brushing may not prevent it. Neither will mouth washes. For the odor comes from a mucin-scum that collects on plates and bridges. This scum soaks up germs and decay bacteria and causes a vile odor that you cannot detect.

One thing that definitely stops "denture breath" is daily use of Polident! This new brushless cleaner has won the approval of thousands of dentists and users. Polident not only purifies false teeth—but also removes all stain, tarnish and food deposits. Makes breath sweeter—plates look better and feel better. Costs only 30¢ at any drug store and lasts for many weeks. Money back if not delighted.

Cleans, Purifies Like Magic
Do this daily: Add a little Polident powder to ½ glass water. Stir. Then put in plate or bridge for 10 to 15 minutes—Rinse—and it's ready to use!

EX-FELON SEIZED AFTER KIDNAPING GIRL IN HOLDUP

An ex-convict who was fleeing with a kidnaped girl in a stolen car after a holdup was caught yesterday when he crashed into two parked cars at 53d street and Kimbark avenue. He gave his name as Oscar J. Dunn, 40 years old, 4539 Woodlawn avenue.

Oscar J. Dunn.

Dunn approached Carlton Pearson, 22, of 6630 Kenwood avenue, who was seated in his car with Miss Dolly Anne Banghart, 20, his fiancée, in front of her home at 4846½ Drexel boulevard. He took Pearson's wallet and Miss Banghart's engagement ring and then forced Pearson from the car and drove off with the girl.

Pearson phoned the license number to police and Policemen Edward Delso and Charles Callender of the Hyde Park police captured Dunn when he crashed the car after a chase. Dunn told police he was freed from Joliet penitentiary eight months ago after serving time for assault to kill and that he also served a sentence in Minnesota for robbery.

ADVERTISE IN THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE

F. D. R. WILL ASK 10 BILLION MORE FOR WAR CHEST

Ships, Planes, and Arms Ready for England.

first report to congress of the aid furnished other nations, and even then he may avail himself of the provision that he may suppress any information he deems incompatible with the public interest.

An Eye on Hitler.

The preparations indicate pretty conclusively, however, that Britain is to receive from the United States a mighty reënforcement in the tools of war with which to resist Hitler's expected attempt to invade the British Isles this spring. Hitler is to be kept guessing on the degree of American reënforcement of his enemy.

Britain has asked the United States for a large amount of material, including chiefly long range bombers, destroyers, mosquito boats, and other small craft to be used against submarines; field guns, machine guns, and ammunition. The United States already has traded 50 destroyers to Britain for lease of military bases in Newfoundland, Bermuda, and the British West Indies. Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox and Admiral Harold R. Stark, chief of naval operations, have declared that the United States is unable to spare more destroyers. Wendell Willkie had it from the President that we could spare an additional 5 to 10 destroyers a month. The President declined comment.

Limit on Value.

It is possible that the material transferred immediately will amount in value to upward of half a billion dollars. The bill limits to 1 billion 300 millions the value of equipment existing or on order.

The value of existing armament transferred is to be fixed by the heads of the war and navy departments and other agencies involved. Presumably 1 billion 300 million would cover the value of about 150 destroyers and mosquito boats, 4,000 airplanes, and from 50 to 100 cargo ships.

At a White House conference tomorrow the President and the congressional leaders will decide finally whether to have the house accept the senate amendments to the dictator bill or to send the measure to conference. If the house accepts the senate amendments the bill will be sent to the White House on Tuesday and signed on Wednesday. If the bill goes to conference it might be subjected to delay in the senate on adoption of the conference report.

"Purse Strings" Amendment.

Some administration leaders want the bill sent to conference for the purpose of eliminating the Byrd "purse strings" amendment attached in the senate. This amendment requires specific authorization by congress of aid to other nations furnished from future appropriations.

Numerous post-mortems of the senate vote on the bill were held during the day. Many persons hailed the passage of the bill by a vote of 60 to 31 for the encouragement it would give Britain and the discouragement it would bring to Hitler, Mussolini, and the Japanese war lords.

Comment by Vandenberg.

Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg [R., Mich.] cited the combined votes on the passage of the bill and the Taft substitute as demonstrating that the senate was nearly unanimous for aiding Britain in one form or another. Only 6 of the 95 senators voted against both the bill and the Taft substitute to advance 2 billion dollars to Britain and more if necessary. The six were Senators Homer T. Bone [D., Wash.], Dennis Chavez [D., N. M.], Robert M. La Follette [P., Wis.], William Langer [R., N. D.], Gerald P. Nye [R., N. D.], and D. I. Walsh [D., Mass.], and even these six made speeches in which they said they hoped Britain would win the war.

There was no end of speculation on the motives animating the votes of various senators. The vote of Senator Charles L. McNary [R., Ore.], minority leader of the senate, in favor of the bill shocked a good many Republicans but was no surprise to his colleagues. He wanted a bill that would receive the votes of a large majority of Republicans. He felt that if England should go under for want of speedy American aid the Republicans would be blamed. He suggested two limiting amendments to command his own and other Republican votes. The administration rejected them, but got his vote anyway.

Lodge Causes Surprise.

A real surprise was the vote for the bill of Senator Henry Cabot Lodge [R., Mass.], who vigorously opposed the measure up to the last stage. He, however, generally follows the leadership of Senator McNary.

Senator Warren R. Austin [R., Vt.], assistant Republican leader, has seen eye to eye with the President on foreign policies for a long time and as a result has been cultivated socially by the White House, the British embassy, and Anglophile social circles. He was quick to go all-out for aid to the President on the dictator bill.

When young Joseph H. Ball [R., Minn.] came to the senate last fall it was understood that he would represent the internationalist views of Wendell Willkie and Willkie's friend, Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota, who appointed Ball to fill the Lundeen vacancy. Ball supported the bill from the start.

Shaken by Arguments.

Young Chan Gurney [R., S. D.], who voted for the bill, has supported Roosevelt foreign policies thruout his career in the senate. He was greatly shaken, however, by some of the arguments against the bill, particularly the speech of Senator George D. Aiken [R., Vt.]. He asked Senator Austin anxiously how Aiken's argument could be answered. He wavered, but eventually got back in line for the bill.

Senator Harold H. Burton [R., O.] in voting for the bill was supposedly influenced considerably by his close friend, Senator Ralph O. Brewster [R., Me.], who with his colleague, Senator Wallace White [R., Me.], reflected the Anglophile sentiment of the northeastern border. Burton and Brewster were roommates at Bowdoin college, were graduated the same day, and entered the senate the same day.

Senator Frederick Van Nuys [D., Ind.] was absent unpaired but favored passage of the bill. There is therefore no ground now for the complaint of "disloyalty" for which the President sought to purge him in 1938. Recently administration influence was exerted to make Van Nuys chairman of the senate judiciary committee in preference to Senator Pat McCarran [D., Nev.], who was opposed to the dictator bill.

There was no stronger noninterventionist at one time than Senator Sheridan Downey [D., Cal.]. He helped lead the fight against embargo repeal and conscription. After a talk with the President, however, he began to see virtue in the dictator bill. He will be rewarded handsomely, 'tis whispered, by administration support of increased old age pensions, his sole legislative interest.

One from Dixie Votes No.

That southern senators supported the bill was explicable. They are Democrats and the south is the most belligerent section of the nation. Senator Robert R. Reynolds [D., N. C.] was the only southerner who voted against the bill. He is a noninterventionist of long standing. Senator Walter F. George [D., Ga.] used to be one also. In 1938 he was asserting that he would "suffer severance of this right arm" before he would vote to send "another mother's son to war." In 1939 he was contending that there would be no European war if this government would let Europe alone. Had he been against the bill he would have gone counter to his section and the big business men who are numbered among his closest friends.

Senator Tom Connally [D., Tex.] fought the dictatorship feature of the President's scheme to pack the Supreme court but swallowed the war dictator bill.

The fact is that he was made extremely uncomfortable by jumping the traces in the court bill fight and never would have done it if it hadn't been for a resolution of the Texas legislature denouncing the bill.

Since then he has been mighty regular, declaiming at every opportunity against persons who do not trust Mr. Roosevelt.

★ THE RULES ★

WHO CAN ENTER? This offer is open free to men, women, boys and girls everywhere—except employes of the Chicago Tribune and members of their families. No person may submit more than one entry.

WHAT TO DO? Each week day a puzzle picture representing the name of a popular radio star will be printed in the Daily Tribune until 42 have appeared. Solve the puzzle pictures and write the names in the space provided, or on a facsimile. Hold all answers until you have the complete set of 42. Do not send them in separately. It is not necessary to solve ALL puzzles correctly to win. Prizes will be paid for entries ranking highest.

WHERE TO SEND? Mail your entry by First Class Mail to "Super-Stars," Chicago Tribune, Post Office Box 1539, Chicago, Illinois. A ballot will be printed with Puzzle Picture No. 42. Each contestant must vote for the "Super-Star" he or she likes best and state the reason for such choice in 25 words or less. Contestants may use the printed ballot or a facsimile. Ballots will be considered only if two or more persons submit equally correct solutions to the puzzle pictures; in which event judgment will be based on sincerity and originality. Entries must be in by midnight, one week after Puzzle No. 42 has been printed.

JUDGMENT: Entries will be judged by a committee appointed by the Chicago Tribune. Entrants agree that the judges' decisions will be final. 430 cash awards totaling $5,000 will be paid to the persons who send in the nearest correctly solved, complete sets of puzzle pictures. Elaborate entries will receive no more consideration than simple ones. In fairness to all the Tribune cannot engage in any correspondence. In case of ties duplicate awards will be paid.

Bensimons.

The military importance of a pair of poached eggs is not something to be sneezed at. Supporting the axiom that "an army travels on its stomach," army men belong enthusiastically to the big-and-regular-breakfast school.

So it is quite a compliment when a high-ranking General volunteers that he reads The New York Times as regularly as he takes his meals. And a young New York woman goes him one better. "I'd sooner miss my breakfast than my Times," is her considered verdict.

Nice tributes — and revealing.... Our readers find The Times balanced diet of news helpful in their personal and business lives. Under these circumstances, you may be sure that advertising in The Times carries more than a passing influence.

START ALL-OUT FIGHT TO KEEP U. S. AT PEACE

Taft Fires Opening Gun Before Collegians.

BY WILLIAM STRAND.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 9.—Senator Robert A. Taft [R., O.] today fired the opening gun in the renewal of the noninterventionist campaign to keep this country out of war.

Senator Taft.

Urging no letup in the opposition to President Roosevelt's war policy, he spoke before a Sabbath gathering made up mostly of grave faced young men of draft age, many of whom had graver faced young wives or sweethearts on their arms.

His words—a rallying call for the mobilization of all antiwar forces to block any attempt to plunge the United States into another foreign war—were carried over a national radio hookup.

Crusade Parley Today.

It was the first public utterance from the noninterventionist bloc in congress following passage of Mr. Roosevelt's dictator bill. Taft and others who fought the bill will meet tomorrow to plan a nation-wide speaking crusade in an effort to arouse the people against involvement in war.

Today's meeting, strangely solemn for so many young people, was sponsored by College Men for Defense First, a newly formed organization for undergraduates and recent alumni. The organization has grown in two months from a little band of 18 friends and old campus cronies starting out on their professional careers in New York to a nation-wide organization with 100 chapters at colleges and universities.

When Taft mounted the speaker's platform in a downtown hotel meeting hall, it was less than 24 hours after the conclusion of the grueling 18 day struggle in he senate in which he stood in the forefront of those who tried in vain to prevent passage of the dictator bill. But far from appearing tired or discouraged he carried an air of calm determination that the antiwar fight must go on and an unmistakable eagerness to be about it.

Urges: Fight Harder.

As his hearers applauded vehemently, he urged that the work of College Men for Defense First as well as that of all other organizations bent on keeping America at peace be continued with increased vigor despite the delegation of extraordinary war making powers to the President by congress.

It is the one sure way, he asserted, to impress upon Mr. Roosevelt's mind that the overwhelming majority of the American people are unswerving in their determination for peace and that the policy of aiding Britain should be continued only so far as it is consistent with this view.

"Passage of the bill was not the end," the senator declared. "Rather, it was the beginning of the real fight to keep America out of war. This organization and all others like it still have a very great task before them—a task the performance of which is vital to the future of the republic.

A "Restraining Influence."

"They must keep in touch with the developments in foreign affairs and keep constantly presenting their views. They must be a restraining influence upon the President to prevent him from taking the final fatal steps over the brink of the abyss before us. They must not stop their good work now."

Under the dictator measure, Taft warned, Mr. Roosevelt is going to have all the strings in his hand to operate the war against Nazi Germany thruout the world and power to bring the conflict to millions of people now at peace.

"I do not think he would make a great success at the job and I would rather leave it to the British to run their own war," the senator asserted.

"War in Six Months."

If, Taft predicted solemnly, Mr. Roosevelt does attempt under the bill to take over the running of the war, the United States will be in it within six months.

"The President perhaps thinks he can run the war without getting into it," he continued. "I think he is mistaken. Certainly an overwhelming majority of the people are in favor of the policy of defending ourselves and not undertaking to maintain a balance of power in Europe.

"I think the fight thus far has been worthwhile. We must continue it."

Grocer Escapes a Bandit by Dashing Into Tavern

Patrons of a tavern near Sidney Glasser's grocery at 6813 North avenue looked up in surprise when he dashed in and thought he wanted a quick drink pretty badly. They were wrong. When a bandit ordered him to reopen the grocery he had just closed Glasser ran into the tavern instead. The bandit ran the other way.

JOSETTE DALY.

New York, March 9 [Special].—Hollywood talent scouts gave a screen test recently to Josette Daly, but it doesn't mean anything, for her mother won't let her play in the movies yet. The New York deb's test was described as a success, but Mrs. James Daly says her daughter must wait until the debutante year is over before she can consider signing a contract.

Josette is a dark, Spanish type who sings, dances, and speaks French and Spanish. Her great-great-grandfather was José de Jesus de Guevara, one of the signers of Venezuela's act of independence in 1810. Her father, the late James R. Daly, was American consul at Caracas.

DR. SWANN RAPS TALK OF ENGLAND FIGHTING FOR U. S.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 9 (AP).—Dr. Howard G. Swann, University of Chicago research director, declared today that the United States is in no danger of being invaded by Germany but that "the fuse which leads to war is lighted."

Dr. Swann told a massmeeting in Cadle tabernacle that he favored aiding Great Britain, but "let's not give aid to the extent that we are drawn into the war ourselves."

The meeting was sponsored by the America First committee of Indianapolis.

MARINES ON WAY TO SINGAPORE? MOTHERS ASKING

They Call on Congress to Investigate.

BY MARCIA WINN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 9.—Most of the mothers who came to Washington to fight the dictator bill left today after the bill's passage yesterday by the senate, but behind them they left an open letter to congress questioning the sincerity of President Roosevelt's assurance that he has no intention of sending American men to fight on foreign soil.

The letter also stated that the women have information that United States marines have been sent to Samoa and asked congress to find out if they are en route to Singapore.

Five Groups Sign It.

The letter bears the signatures of five groups: Americans United, Inc., Mothers of the United States of America, Roll Call of American Women, Mothers of American Sons, and We the Mothers Mobilize for America. All had representatives here working for the defeat of the bill.

"If the President is sincere in his promise not to send men to Europe or other foreign wars," the letter asks, "and if he is honest in his intentions in his entire foreign policy, why did he oppose the Ellender amendment, which simply put in writing what he has said orally?

[An amendment offered by Senator Allen J. Ellender [D., La.], but later replaced by an innocuous substitute proposed to declare that nothing in the dictator bill be construed to confer any "additional" power upon the President respecting the use of the armed forces outside the western hemisphere, except in the territories and possessions of the United States.]

"His action in opposing this convinces us that he is not sincere in his promise to keep us out of war and that we are the victims of another 1916 promise.

"We women are now casting a majority of the national vote in this country, and we demand to know how much more is the congress going to stand for?

"Without a declaration of war the President's authority is confined to that of commander in chief, and there are no lives of American citizens threatened in Singapore. Yet we have information that United States marines have left San Diego for the Samoa Islands.

"We women want the President to tell us, or the congress to find out for us, are these United States marines en route to Singapore?"

The letter continues that it is undeclared war that congress must be on guard against, and concludes:

"We, women of America, mothers of sons whose bodies will be buried in unknown graves in foreign lands, implore you, our senators and representatives, to take steps at once to curb the President in his unconstitutional acts."

SHOT EXAMINING GUN IN CAFE.

Gerald J. Marshall, 20 years old, 1206 South Damen avenue, was shot and wounded slightly in the arm yesterday when a gun was discharged accidentally as he examined it in a restaurant at 1319 South Western avenue. After his wound was treated he was taken to the Marquette police station for questioning. A friend who had been with him is being sought.

Forced Into Car and Raped, Girl, 8, Reports to Police

A girl 8 years old reported to police she was raped last night by an assailant about 19 years old, who forced her into his automobile at Keating and Belmont avenues and drove to a nearby alley. The girl said she was walking home after attending a movie at 4757 Belmont avenue. She was treated by a physician and taken home.

CALLING ALL PATRIOTS.

The effort to defeat the 1776 bill brought the America First movement to the front. Now that the resolution has been adopted, there may be some who will counsel that the organization be disbanded. If that advice is followed the country will be deprived of a leadership for which the need today is obviously greater than ever.

The forces of internationalism won their victory by a wide margin of votes, but the America First campaigners can nevertheless find a good deal of solid accomplishment to reward them for their effort. Scores of representatives and senators, thanks to America First, have been obliged to go on record against America's entrance into the war. Spokesmen for the administration have felt the necessity of publicly renewing their pledges against war.

If the public had not been aroused to the threatened danger there is little doubt that the enactment of the bill would have been widely accepted both here and abroad, not only as a vote of confidence in Mr. Roosevelt but as an invitation to him to proceed with all haste along the road to war. As it is, the administration and its congressional followers are pledged to regard the bill as nothing more than an authorization to lend material aid to Britain, subject to our own requirements. If Mr. Roosevelt now leads us into war it will be in violation not only of his campaign speeches and his party platform but of the solemn promises which attended the passage of the lease-lend bill.

The America First movement must remain on guard to see that the promises are kept. Congressmen will be strengthened in purpose by the knowledge that their constituents are strongly organized and well-informed. It is the job of the America First group to make itself felt in every state and congressional district. Around the banner of America First all citizens can gather who believe that the first responsibility of our government is to our country and its people. Around that banner, too, can gather all who believe that it would be a tragic mistake for us to enter the war as belligerents.

Certainly those who wish America to become strong and to remain at peace can find nothing in the enactment of H. R. 1776 to cheer about. Congress, at the President's behest, has taken a long step on the road to internationalism and war. If we escape, it will be because the citizens are organized for national preparedness and peace behind conscientious and sober leadership such as the America First movement has provided.

POLITICAL HONESTY IN INDIANA.

A committee of the Republican controled legislature in Indiana has investigated the voting of aliens in the Calumet area which, it was charged, gave the Democratic governor, Henry F. Schricker, his slim margin of victory in the election last November.

The committee has reported back to the legislature that aliens did vote illegally and that the election laws should be amended to cure the evil. At the same time it reports that the number of illegal votes apparently was not enough to wipe out the majority by which Gov. Schricker was declared elected. His right to office, accordingly, will not be contested.

This report is a credit to both the common honesty and the political good sense of the Republican leaders in Indiana. They had the votes in the legislature to seize the governorship. By refusing this temptation they have done their party far more good than it could have gained from the patronage of the governor's office. The contrast between this course and the attempt of the Democratic machine in Missouri, in almost identical circumstances, to steal the governorship of that state is too obvious to need more than mention.

Gov. Schricker, it may be noted, is doing his part to redeem Indiana from the reputation for political brigandage that it received under the discredited McNutt-Minton machine. He dissolved the notorious Two Per Cent club, which preyed on state employés and contractors, and has cooperated with the legislature in making impossible a revival of that form of legalized blackmail.

THE MUNICIPAL COURT.

Representatives Saltiel and Swanson have introduced in the legislature a bill providing a new method of choosing justices of the Municipal court of Chicago. The bill has the endorsement of the Chicago Bar association and the Chicago Federation of Labor and its provisions should appeal to all those citizens who are disturbed at the increasingly low caliber of the court's present personnel.

The bill has two main provisions. The first merely extends to the Municipal court the provisions of the nonpartisan aldermanic election act; that is, it takes the party circle off the judicial ballot. Candidates for the court would hereafter run as individuals, not as members of a party slate. Primaries would narrow down the field to twice the number of positions to be filled.

This can be recommended unreservedly. As THE TRIBUNE has pointed out repeatedly, the present prevalence of judicial clowns and ward committeemen's hacks on the municipal bench is a direct consequence of the party landslides in Chicago during the last eight years, which have swept into office unbroken party slates, composed of good, bad, and indifferent candidates. Nonpartisan selections might do much to improve the caliber of the judges.

The second amendment is something of an innovation in Illinois election procedure. Each candidate, when first elected, would serve a probationary term of four years. At the end of that period his name would go on the ballot, not in competition with any other candidate, but for appraisal in the light of his record. The voters would decide whether he was to remain on the bench. If he got a majority of the votes he would automatically go back on the bench for a six year term. If he failed to get a majority he would not be eligible to serve on the court for six years.

This proposal embodies the principle of retaining in judicial office men who have satisfactory records. At the same time it leaves the process of selection entirely in the hands of the voters. At some future date it may be desirable to extend this system of selection to the various state courts. At present it can be recommended in the belief that it may improve the Municipal court, and in the knowledge that it can hardly make it any worse than it is today.

OUR RESERVE BANK REMAINS OURS.

Certain New Dealers met defeat last week in their attempt to seize control of the Chicago Federal Reserve bank. The plan was to place one of their number, the head of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, in the office of president of the bank, where for a 5 year term he could tell bankers in this part of the country what they could not do and what they would have to do. This was the first time in more than a quarter of a century of federal reserve bank history that such a political move was made.

The scheme would probably have succeeded save for a dispatch from Washington, published in this newspaper on Saturday, March 1, telling of the plan. In an editorial Tuesday morning in these columns the consequences of New Deal domination of the local reserve bank were discussed. We pointed out that an attempt had been made to get control of the New York Federal Reserve bank in a similar way, but that the maneuver had failed because of the determined opposition of the bankers and business men in that part of the country. We suggested that what had been done so effectively in New York could be done here.

Experienced observers say that they have never known an occasion when the bankers in this district were so aroused. Country bankers thruout the five states urged the directors not to make the fatal mistake, and warned them that if the reserve banks became subordinate to Washington politicians there would be many withdrawals from the reserve system. The state bankers' associations of two states and the Chicago chapter of the Illinois Bankers' association denounced the plan. Protests also were received by officers of the large Chicago banks. A reserve bank director's mail became as heavy as a congressman's.

The issue was clearly drawn. On one side was the clique, which having taken over one after another of the lending agencies in Washington, was seeking to annex the reserve bank by getting, as a first step, control of the great Chicago Federal Reserve bank—third largest bank in the world—with assets of 3¼ billion dollars. On the other side were the bankers of this part of the country, who were insisting that their great central bank should be free from political control as it always had been, and should not become just one more link in the chain of free lending institutions presided over by Mr. Jesse Jones.

Behind closed doors in the board room in the great Federal Reserve Bank building the fight went on all day Friday. Finally about 5 in the afternoon word was given out that the board had elected as president for the next five years Clifford S. Young, recognized as one of the experts of the reserve system, and for years a vice president of the Chicago bank. Aroused, the middle west had whipped the New Deal to a frazzle.

Success in this battle shows that people, when stirred to action, and informed in time to make the action effective, can defeat the more daring and objectionable steps of the Washington clique.

MODEST DR. STANLEY.

[Baltimore Evening Sun.]

On the evening of Feb. 6 Dr. Wendell M. Stanley received the 1941 gold medal of the Institute of the City of New York in recognition of his having, in 1935, crystalized the tobacco mosaic virus, cause of the disease known as tobacco mosaic. His work is important, since its crystallization proved that the virus is a chemical agent and not a micro-organism and, consequently, that infectious diseases are not necessarily caused by microscopic animals and plants, as bacteriologists once believed. It is also important because among the virus diseases are infantile paralysis and influenza, and a better knowledge of the nature of viruses should lead to a better knowledge of those diseases.

An ordinary man might have been expected to receive the honor without question, but not Dr. Stanley, as his speech of acceptance, which appears in the current issue of Science, discloses. Dr. Stanley approached the matter of the medal with the same care, the same close reasoning and the same conscientious distinction between the true and the false which must have guided him in the research in his laboratory.

In the first place, he questioned whether he had a right to claim the first crystalization of the virus. That, he said, was first accomplished by nature. Not only that, but he was also of the opinion that Iwanoski had accomplished the feat as far back as 1904, tho Iwanoski was not aware of what he was doing. Furthermore, said Dr. Stanley, the pioneer work of Dr. Vinson was notable, for it indicated that tobacco mosaic was susceptible to chemical attack, and Dr. Holmes should be credited with his demonstration that tobacco mosaic would cause local lesions and spots. This knowledge, he said, had proved very useful to him in his own experiments. Finally, Dr. Stanley admitted that the proximity of his own laboratory at Princeton to the laboratory of plant pathology enabled him to consult plant and animal pathologists at a moment's notice.

"As a matter of fact," concluded Dr. Stanley, "in retrospect, it is difficult to see how the combination of factors which I have just described could have resulted otherwise than in the isolation and crystallization of tobacco mosaic virus."

Equally important, it would seem, is Dr. Stanley's successful isolation of that virus known as "modesty." If more people could be infected with it the world might be considerably happier than it is.

It may seem fantastic to those so close to world upheaval, but there are places where the principal concern is to keep the light from going out under the incubator.—Christian Science Monitor.

The Borglum influence has spread among the high schools and colleges of the Rocky mountains. Whenever we see a committee of Americans at work "saving" some branch of the European people, we recall a minor episode of the Other War. We tolled like a beaver to arrange a benefit for stranded French actors and gave a swell show. Then a rival committee of restaurant and saloonkeepers attached the box office receipts.

The British naval raid on the Lofoten Islands, off the Norwegian coast, reminded us that they are the locale for one of Edgar Allan Poe's most famous stories, "A Descent into the Maelstrom." Largely because of it "maelstrom" became a popular word. Since Poe's time American journalism has reveled in maelstroms.

The Height of Unconsciousness.

In our town we have a dear old minister and one of those women. In her better moments Mary goes to the dear old minister's church. Mary's husband left for parts unknown some years ago, but the babies kept on coming, one by one. Eventually the dear old minister felt called upon to protest.

"Mary," he said in utterly shocked tones, "I don't understand."

Mary's hand went to her face, her eyelids fluttered, her voice quavered. "I don't understand, either," she answered. "I must have been unconscious!"

Some of these days we are going to find ourselves with a lusty tyrant in the White House. What better answer are we going to have, and shan't we look just too coy saying, "We must have been unconscious"? Mrs. Fred J. Meek.

Chicago's Heart Belongs to 'Little Egypt.'

Please give no credence to those contributors who cast a shadow of doubt on the existence of "Little Egypt" as a Midway attraction at the Columbian exposition. That seductive Syrian damsel from Damascus put on the "hootchy-kootchy" side show in the "Streets of Cairo" concession. After the fair the tawdry State street shows had a line of "Little Egypt" imitators, with tom-tom, fife and drum outside, but the real lady retired to private life, became a grandmother, and received callers in a quiet nook of the "Streets of Paris" at A Century of Progress to talk over old days. New Evidence on "Charley Horse."

In the series of articles called "The Turnover Club," written by my father, Biff Hall, for the Chicago Herald, 1885-'89, under date of July, 1887, I find the following:

"When George Gore, the New York fielder, was here with his nine last week I asked him the meaning of the baseball term 'charley horse,' and he told me that little Joe Quest was a blacksmith, and when he was at work in a foundry some years ago it was quite a common occurrence for a man who swung a heavy hammer continually to be affected with a sprain of the muscles and tendons of the forearm. The workmen called this ailment a 'charley horse,' and when Quest introduced it into baseball it was at once adopted and given a broader meaning and made to include sprains of all tendons and muscles." This is said by Gore to be the real derivation of the curious term.

THE HEART FLIES STORM SIGNALS.

PLUGGING of a coronary artery within the heart is all too common. Recently this subject came up at a luncheon table discussion, with the lawyer of the group remarking:

"Isn't there some way you physicians can stop this thing? Only last week one of our most distinguished members of the bar suffered an attack."

All eyes turned on the medical man, who braced himself—instinctively. To him, the topic was anything but pleasant.

"When a large vessel becomes blocked," he began, "we are in for trouble. Unless nature is able to establish new channels so that fresh blood can reach the starved areas, the parts involved cannot function. Within recent years we have come to realize that coronary thrombosis is an important episode in any one's life.

"While symptoms occasionally materialize 'out of the blue,' the conditions which led up to them have been long in the making. Disease, or nonobservance of the rules of good hygiene may have weakened a conduit or allowed it to fill with deposits of lime.

"When a stoppage actually takes place the pumping organ is embarrassed—desperately. It will behave as tho it had been struck a hard blow. In fact, heart failure may occur rather quickly. It behooves each of us to be alert to the beginning signs of the disturbance and thus avoid a catastrophe."

Here the doctor was interrupted with the query: "What are some of these oncoming storm clouds?"

"As I was about to remark," he continued, "a recent study of 260 cases has been made in an attempt to find out what happened before the collapse—in other words, what notice had the patients received that something was amiss. Nearly one-half of the series exhibited certain manifestations, many of which—had they not been overlooked—might have minimized the illness and averted severe damage.

"It is rather significant that in no single instance did the symptoms come on during sleep, altho some were aware of pain shortly after rising. Exertion is clearly a factor. Nearly three-quarters of the victims were mildly to strenuously active, while only one-quarter were conscious of aching in the chest when at rest.

"In 50 per cent the siege appeared within 24 hours following the onset of pain, which—in some individuals—simulated the agony of angina. Others sensed only mild discomfort as, for example, a feeling of fullness, heaviness, or nausea. A few who were subject to excitement or intense effort, observed indications weeks before actual blockage ensued. All, however, complained of fatigue and weakness.

"The chances are that we can save a fair number of impaired hearts with a little more attention to these premonitory admonitions. A week or two in bed, with proper diet and adequate elimination, may do the trick.

"I have in mind a friend whose physician feared that he soon would experience a coronary block. In addition to shortness of breath, palpitation, nervousness, and dizziness he had encountered enough pain to justify a rest program. He was kept quiet and his diet was restricted to 700 or 800 calories daily. This régime was continued for two weeks until all distress within the chest had disappeared.

"He was then allowed to resume activity gradually, but the menus were kept low in proteins and fats. Starches were allowed freely. That was three years ago and he has not been bothered since. He is past 70 and is carrying on efficiently. He relaxes for an hour at noon, lying down in his office.

"There is every reason to believe that this management forestalled cardiac failure, if not a coronary accident.

"While there are scores of causes of chest pain—those who are in the fifth decade should obey the 'block signals."

Our legal friend paid for the lunch.

BARRED FROM THE FIGHTING.

Chicago, March 4.—I am 22 years of age, healthy, and physically normal except that I must wear glasses.

I have recently gone to Windsor, Canada, trying to enlist in the air corps or some other type of fighting outfit. I was refused, altho they accept men for training who wear glasses.

My eyes are a little worse than allowed without glasses, altho with them I can see normally.

Previously I had written to the British-American Ambulance society, hoping to go overseas as an ambulance driver, but was also refused. Their excuse was that they have more applications then they can accept. I then tried to enlist in our draft army as a volunteer. I was again rejected because of my eyes.

What must one do in this country if he must wear glasses but wants to get in some of the action going on over there? Every one seems to think that just because one wears glasses he must be contented to stay at home, go into business, marry, raise children, and forget about the whole thing.

Does this make me inferior to the others? I believe if I was given a chance in any of these things I could make the grade. Surely I am not the only young man that craves excitement but is held back because he must wear glasses.

DISCOURAGED.

DEFINITION REQUESTED.

Chicago, March 2.—I have come to the conclusion that the phrase "Our Way of Life" is about as clear as mud to myself and every one I have ever discussed this with.

If you ask the average person to define "our way of life" he usually says "democracy."

And when you ask him to define democracy he usually says "our way of life."

Now will some one, please, give me the answer without first discussing the drainage system in Latvia, the low price of cotton down south, or those awful dictators in Europe? J. J. G.

NOT A BAD IDEA.

Fort Branch, Ind., March 3.—Since you have read Willkie and Dewey out of the Republican party, we are awaiting with bated breath a pronunciamento on your editorial page to the effect that Bennett Clark, Burton Wheeler, and Hi Johnson are all full-blooded Republicans.

HOW CAN WE JOIN BRITAIN WITHOUT JOINING HER WAR?

Chicago, March 4.—In the interest of accuracy and honest reporting—of which your esteemed newspaper has ever been an unflinching champion—will you kindly correct a statement erroneously attributed to me in the news columns of THE TRIBUNE in the issue of March 4, relating to Federal Union, Inc.?

I refer to the news story on page 2, in which your reporter, doubtless inadvertently or thru a misunderstanding over the telephone, reported me as saying that "a majority of members want this country to intervene in the war, with soldiers if necessary." This is neither an accurate statement of fact nor a warranted deduction from anything that I affirmed in the course of the interview in question.

The nearest I came to any such statement, or to one that might conceivably be so interpreted, was to assert that a "majority of the members [of Federal Union, Inc.] are undoubtedly in favor of our extending aid to Britain," and that "Clarence K. Streit, founder of the Union Now movement, advocates that steps be taken immediately toward the consummation of a federal union of the English speaking nations, as a nucleus for world union!" Now, in favoring "aid to Britain" we of the Federal Union movement are doing no more than to follow the majority opinion and national policy of this country, as exemplified by the Presidential election of 1940 and by acts of congress. But as to the extent of the assistance to be extended to Britain and her allies, whether it shall be "short of war" or "short of nothing," there are legitimate differences of opinion on that score among our members and adherents, as there are among all other groups and elements. Indeed, I specifically directed your reporter's attention to the fact that among the active supporters of Federal Union are numerous pacifists who are opposed to the use of force under any circumstances!

Chairman, Chicago Chapter,

CONGRESSIONAL LIVES.

Chicago, Feb. 28.—We deplore the needless loss of life that has resulted from the recent series of airplane accidents. Political control of the airways has evidently done them material damage. However, I am somewhat ironically amused by the hysterical reaction which has occurred in congress because two of their members have accidentally met the same fate they seem bound and determined to wish onto thousands of young American men. It seems that the old saying, "It is different when it happens to you!" still holds.

FRANKLIN W. BLYE.

THE SENATOR FROM ILLINOIS.

Chicago, March 4.—Once upon a time Illinois had a senator named William H. Dieterich.

This man Dieterich favored the world court and when told by a newspaper man that the people of Chicago and Cook county did not want any part of the court, Mr. Dieterich is said to have replied: "Let the people of Chicago and Cook county jump in the lake."

The people of Chicago and Cook county were so cold and numb after their dip in the lake that they couldn't hold pencils in their hands to vote for Dieterich in the following election. I wonder if Scott W. Lucas knows how many, many people of Illinois are against H. R. 1776.

TO SET ASIDE WILL.

Chicago, March 5.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I had an aunt by marriage in California. I have proof she was fond of me and have good reasons to believe that I would be mentioned in her will. I received a copy of her will and I was left out of it.

1. I have proof she was not in her right mind at the time. The signature on the will cannot be recognized at all.
2. I would like to know how I can find out if another will was made.
3. I have letters contradicting people in the will; in fact, one was a witness saying they did not know they were in it. I have every reason to believe I was a beneficiary in another will. This woman entered a rest home or hospital Feb. 17 and the will was made Feb. 15. She was found in an unconscious condition before that.
4. What can I do? W. J. P.

1. Such proof would be a basis for setting the will aside.
2. This is a matter for follow-up clews in your possession.
3. We do not understand what you mean by this.
4. Merely setting the will aside would not give you a share in the estate of a stranger. Unless you can ascertain that there was another will we would advise you to drop the matter.

BLOW GIVEN NAZIS BY U. S., DECLARES BRITISH MINISTER

Bevin Calls Lend-Lease Aid 'Overwhelming.'

NEWCASTLE-ON-TYNE, England, March 9 (AP).—Labor Minister Ernest Bevin declared today that the "overwhelming" material force made available to Britain thru passage of President Roosevelt's lend-lease bill would be a psychological blow to Germany.

"Now that the great productive machine of America is going in with the British commonwealth to pour out airplanes, ships, and guns," he said, "this overwhelming force, and the knowledge in Germany that the forces they started with cannot win, will create a psychological effect which will help to break down the spirit of aggression in middle Europe."

He said he was "tremendously encouraged" by the trend of war events and confident of the outcome of the approaching "battle of the Atlantic."

Berlin Maintains Reserve.

BERLIN, March 9 (AP).—The greatest reserve was maintained today in official quarters and among authorized commentators on passage in the United States senate of the lend-lease bill.

A "Test," Argentina Told.

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, March 9 (AP).—Commenting on passage by the United States senate of the lend-lease bill, the morning newspaper La Nacion said:

"The future will show the results of this attempt at preservation of democracies short of war. This is a test before which we cannot, naturally, remain indifferent."

It added that the bill might have a direct effect upon Argentina because of the ties of continental solidarity.

Check on Japan Seen.

HONGKONG, March 9 (AP).—Passage of the lend-lease bill by the United States senate was hailed here today in both Chinese and foreign quarters. Any measure tending to fortify Britain's position in Europe, observers said, will strengthen her hand in the orient and probably make Japan think twice before embarking on international "toe treading adventures."

SEIZE 2 MORE IN BANDIT RAID ON BOOKIE SHOP

Rogers Park police last night seized two of the three bandits accused of holding up a handbook Friday night in the rear of 7616 North Paulina street. The third accused gunman, Ralph Hoff, an ex-convict, was caught when he fled from the robbery and tried to commandeer an automobile in front of 7525 North Paulina street. The two arrested last night by Detectives George Helstern, William Ford, Anthony Murray, and Tiffin Constant gave their names as Raymond Lydigsen, 26 years old, 1446 George street, and Joseph Albanse, 27, of 1106 South Ashland avenue. They and Hoff were identified by victims of the holdup.

Hoff also was identified by Stanley Gross, 1655 Juneway terrace, as the bandit who took $36 from him Friday night as Gross was parking his car in the rear of 7608 North Paulina street.

5 BANDITS FLEE AS GIRL FAINTS; SEIZE SUSPECT

Fillmore street police yesterday held James Sarafis, 25 years old, 3358 Jackson boulevard, who was captured shortly after the holdup of an automobile supply store at 4651 Madison street. Sarafis, said by police to have been one of the five robbers, was seized by Traffic Policeman Theodore Budil at Madison street and Pulaski road as he was about to enter a taxi. The bandits, who took $900 after cowing 32 customers and clerks, fled when Miss Dorothy Adams, the cashier, fainted and fell from her chair to the floor.

PLANE CRASHES ON FARM; PILOT BADLY INJURED

Wesley Gratz, 28 years old, of Libertyville, was critically injured yesterday afternoon when the small airplane he was piloting crashed on a farm three miles east of Grayslake in Lake county. Witnesses told Lake county deputy sheriffs from Waukegan that Gratz had been stunting at a low altitude when his plane went into a spin. The deputies took Gratz to Condell Memorial hospital in Libertyville. Gratz's plane was owned by his brother, Wayne, an automobile and fuel oil dealer of Libertyville.

MARSHALL FIELD & COMPANY

MARSHALL FIELD & COMPANY

Lovely Lady, greet the Spring

This spring's fashions can bring out the latent loveliness in every woman. Perhaps you emphasize your own loveliness with Regency frills at your wrists, mauve veiling swathing your hair like posies under glass. Or the enveloping softness of a cape, or the set of your hat above Mistinguette bangs. Everything possesses the power to flatter. Tunics to call attention to your tiny waist, taffeta and faille to rustle romantically, a Beau Brummel jabot to cascade from a white throat. Soft shoulders free of 1940 defiance.

How else can one describe such a spring, except with one word—pretty? This spring offers endless gestures towards your own prettiness . . . make a few. With feminine intuition, know which one will set you apart because it is so definitely you. Marshall Field & Company charts this route to prettiness. Somewhere, somehow along this way, you'll find your gesture to Spring 1941.

Your Silhouette
A new silhouette emerges. It starts at the shoulders . . . rounder, softer, easier, free from exaggerated padding. Returned are the dolman, the raglan, the kimono sleeves. There's a flow to the lines of your skirt. A tidy look to your waist. Clothes look molded to your figure, rather than merely covering it.

Your Shoes
Slippers of a lady—naive little pumps, splendid with bows—trim and less nonsensical—intent upon flattery. Soft calf, pliant gabardine—and as a magnificent gesture—red alligator to march in line with gay accessories. Keep faith with flats for town and country. Collect play shoes.

Your Hat
No one silhouette, no one color, no one fabric. Masses of flowers like blossoms caught in a high wind . . . delicious veilings to make your eyes deep purple pools . . . hats to sit back of pompadours . . . brims to soar from a classic brow . . . all hats are bent on making you look pretty.

Your Bag
Reunion with old-fashioned fabrics . . . serge, broadcloth, ribbed fabrics . . . strong contenders for fashion position. Watch for the narrow look to bags . . . the new box shapes, four different sizes—from the wee to the huge. Calf, gabardine and alligator for steady duty with matching shoes.

Your Hair
Perhaps your prettiest gesture will be bangs, or a sleek pompadour . . . or perhaps yours is a serene brow beauty. Experiment and make sure. The right hair do . . . a new one . . . can make spring an exciting adventure . . . change the pace of your entire wardrobe . . . make you a new you.

Your Jewelry
Wear your earrings with the constancy of Argentinita. Match them to your cuff links in the morning, wear them like bedewed flowers at night. Wear your jewelry in series on your lapel, like a cluster of mushrooms gay as those that danced in "Fantasia." Jewelry will be delicate this spring.

Your Colors
Dare to have color courage! Indulge in the violine range . . . from mauve pink to Parma violet . . . strike black with yellow . . . or make it bold with white. Borrow from the South American pallette, from the Chinese, from the American red, white and blue. Work out your color scheme . . . with courage!

Your Gloves
White gloves, fresh as a cluster of white carnations . . . what could be more 19th Century? For the modern touch . . . any of the violine shades . . . blond for your navy . . . yellow for black . . . cocoa for beige . . . always long enough to wrinkle casually at your wrists. 4-button . . . perfectly plain.

Your Suit
Without which spring would not be complete . . . it may be a faille cutaway, a tailored suit in men's woolen . . . checks, plaid, stripes. Note the new higher lapels, the inevitable pockets, and do not expect a single rule for skirts . . . slim and graceful lines are their only common denominator.

POLICEMAN'S CAR HITS TRUCK; WIFE KILLED, 3 INJURED

Strikes a Heavily Loaded Trailer in Gary.

A woman was killed and three persons were injured seriously early yesterday when their car crashed into a heavily loaded trailer-truck in the 2700 block of 5th avenue, Gary.

The dead woman was Mrs. Paulina Woods, 33 years old, 6049 East 6th place, Gary, wife of Policeman Harold Woods, 40, of the Gary force. Woods, who was driving the car, was injured, as were Policeman Opie Cross, 35, of 657 DeKalb street, and Mrs. Genevieve Shanahan, 35, of 536 Virginia avenue, Gary. All were taken to Mercy hospital. The truck driver, Charles Ewers, 34, of Benton Harbor, Mich., was unhurt.

Glenview CCC Youth Killed.

John W. Moore, 17, CCC camp enrolee at Glenview, was killed when he was struck by an automobile on Glenview road near the camp. His home was at Paris in Edgar county. The driver of the car was Harry Standard, 17, of 1202 Pine street, Glenview.

Miss Bernadine Verbic, 21, of 695 Aurora avenue, Aurora, was killed and three other persons were injured seriously when their auto ran into the rear of a parked truck in Ogden avenue highway a half mile west of Lisle in Du Page county.

Injured are Miss Virginia Verbic, 22, a sister of the dead woman; Sergt. Stanley Terlep, 27, of Rantoul Field, driver of the car, and Stanley Wedic, 25, of 521 North Hickory street, Joliet. Miss Verbic and Wedic are critically injured. All are in St. Charles hospital, Aurora. The truck was driven by Ward L. Adrian, 25, of Davenport, Ia. He said he had been halted by motor trouble.

Dozing at Wheel Proves Fatal.

Richard R. Zito, 32, of 906 North Trumbull avenue, an employé of the Commonwealth Edison company, was killed in U. S. 21, half a mile north of Halfday, when his car left the road and crashed into a culvert. Police said he apparently went to sleep at the wheel.

William G. Heck, 44, of 140th street and Center avenue, Riverdale, was killed when his car skidded on a curve at 127th street near Western avenue, Blue Island, and struck a light post. Heck was a switchman for the Indiana Harbor Belt Line railroad.

Willie Abbott, 26, colored, of 15846 Vine avenue, Harvey, died in Oak Forest infirmary of injuries incurred Friday when he was hit at 159th street and Vine avenue by a car driven by Joseph W. Hartill of Markham.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 154 persons had been killed in Cook county traffic since Jan. 1. Of these 120 died in Chicago, where 3,930 were injured during the same period.

POLICE TO GUARD WEST PULLMAN HARVESTER UNIT

John Prendergast, chief of the uniformed police, has ordered 120 policemen to be on duty this morning in front of the West Pullman plant of the International Harvester company at 1015 West 120th street. Sergt. George Barnes also will be present with his police labor squad. The police declined to comment on the situation, but it was understood that they were taking precautions against violence in case any of the 2,200 workers join the C. I. O. strike which has closed the tractor and McCormick plants of the company.

An American Federation of Labor union claims a majority of the West Pullman plant workers and has demanded an election to determine the employés' bargaining agent.

Al Glen, a C. I. O. leader, told C. I. O. workers at a meeting in the Morrison hotel yesterday that John L. Lewis, head of the United Mine Workers, has promised that his union will give financial support to the harvester company strikers.

Noise Abatement Council to Be Formed Tomorrow

A permanent Chicago Noise Abatement council will be established at a luncheon meeting in the Bismarck hotel tomorrow. George P. Little, chairman of the organizing committee, said yesterday that plans for observing the first week in June as noise abatement week also will be discussed.

OBITUARIES

Henry Roth.

Henry Roth, a retired attorney and a resident of Chicago for 70 years, died yesterday in his home at 2212 East 70th street. He was a graduate of the Lake Forest college of law, and from 1904-'08 served as justice of the peace in the downtown courts. Mr. Roth, born 75 years ago in Cleveland, O., was prominent in Masonic circles. He was an honorary director of Temple Sholom, and a director of K. A. M. temple. Surviving are his widow, Lucy, and two sons, Monroe Roth of Chicago and Stanley Roth of Scarsdale, N. Y. The funeral will be at 10 a. m. tomorrow in the chapel at 936 East 47th street, with burial in Rosehill cemetery.

Anthony Socki.

The funeral of Anthony Socki will be held from the chapel at 4048 Harrison street to the Presentation church at 10:30 a. m. today. Mr. Socki, a truck driver for THE TRIBUNE for 17 years, died Saturday in his home, 4110 Harrison street. He was 43 years old. His widow, Lillian, survives with three sons, Anthony Jr., Bernard, and John, and two daughters, Lillian and Darlene.

Miss Epha Mae Marshall.

Funeral services for Miss Epha Mae Marshall, a state official of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union for 28 years, will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow in the chapel at 1567 Maple avenue in Evanston. Burial will be at Abingdon in Knox county. Miss Marshall died Saturday in her home at 1242 Elmwood avenue, Evanston. She was 79 years old.

Dr. James Emmett Monahan.

The funeral of Dr. James Emmett Monahan, a Chicago dentist for 40 years, will be held at 9:15 a. m. tomorrow from the chapel at 4817 Madison street to St. Matthew's church. Dr. Monahan, who lived at 247 North Homan avenue, died on Saturday. He leaves two sisters, Misses Jane and Catherine Monahan.

Frank G. Burch.

Frank G. Burch, retired traveling salesman who formerly resided in Oak Park, died yesterday in his home at Rensselaer, Ind. He was 82 years old. He leaves his widow, Millie, and a son, Arthur M. Burch. Funeral services will be held tomorrow in Rensselaer.

DE LA SALLE HIGH TO BE SALUTED ON CITIZEN HOUR

De La Salle High school will be saluted by W-G-N on the Citizens of Tomorrow program at 4:30 p. m. tomorrow. Six hundred boys, headed by their principal, Brother Lawrence David, will attend the broadcast. The school Glee club, directed by Brother Ralph, will sing four numbers.

The Chicago Tribune news quiz will be conducted again, with $5 in cash going to each winner. Among alumni of De La Salle who have been invited to be special guests are James B. McCahey, president of the Chicago board of education; the Rev. Francis C. Young, John J. Kelly, Bernard J. Fallon, Martin H. Kennelly, and William E. Keith and Morton E. Anderson, executives of the American Legion.

James Sheridan of Leo Catholic High school, winner of the Cook county Americanism oratorical contest, sponsored by the American Legion, will give an excerpt from his oration on the constitution.

Theodore J. Schmitz.

Theodore J. Schmitz, a pioneer in the good roads movement in Illinois, died yesterday in his home, 546 Grace street, Elgin. His friends credit him with being the first to suggest the dividing line on pavements as a safety measure. Mr. Schmitz was 73 years old. He was a retired executive of the Elgin National Watch company, chairman of the city planning commission, and a former president of the Illinois State Automobile association. His widow, Eva, and a daughter survive. Services will be held at 3 p. m. tomorrow in the chapel at 51 Center street, Elgin.

Sanford F. Harris.

Sanford F. Harris, vice president of the William R. Stuart and company investment firm, died yesterday in his home, 425 Surf street. Mr. Harris was 63 years old. He was associated for many years with his father, the late Joseph Harris, in the development of the automatic telephone and later in the Automatic Electric company. His widow, Mia, and a son, Todd, survive. Funeral services will be held at 1 p. m. tomorrow in the Rosehill cemetery chapel.

Carolyn Chapman to Become Thomas Wells' Bride March 19

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE best laid wedding plans are apt to go astray as draft boards thruout the country disarrange spring wedding dates. Miss Carolyn Stickney Chapman and Thomas Edmund Wells have decided to advance the date of their wedding from June to next week, as he is being called into the army.

Their marriage will be a quiet one in the late afternoon on March 19 at the Lake Forest home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Adams Chapman. Only the families and a few intimate friends will be present for the ceremony at 5 o'clock. A few other close friends will be asked to come in at 5:30 to drink a toast to the bride and bridegroom.

Mrs. Chapman and Other Daughters in Florida.

This early wedding date is cutting short Mrs. Chapman's winter holiday in Palm Beach. She and two other daughters, Mrs. J. Brooks Fenno Jr. of Boston and Mrs. Francis Beidler Jr. of Lake Forest, all will come back from the southern resort a few days before the ceremony.

Miss Chapman and Mr. Wells don't know where they'll be at home, for the bride-to-be will have to follow her bridegroom to whatever training camp he is sent. Miss Chapman, who is in her senior year at Vassar, has returned home to complete plans for the wedding. She will not be prevented from receiving her degree, however, as she has some extra credits at the present time and will make up the others necessary at summer school.

Mr. Wells is engaged in business in Rock Rapids, Ia. He is a son of Mrs. Ellsworth Faris and of the late Thomas E. Wells.

The engagement of Mrs. Alma Walker Hearst to Chauncey McKeever, formerly of Chicago, was announced recently by Mrs. Hearst's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Walker of Piedmont, Cal. The wedding is to take place within two months. Mrs. Hearst was divorced from Randolph Hearst in 1932. Popular in San Francisco, she studied art in New York and Europe. Mr. McKeever is a son of the late Carlos McKeever and Mrs. McKeever of Edinburgh, Scotland.

Charles F. Glore Jr. Weds in Florida March 23.

Because the date of the Babson institute spring vacation doesn't give Charles F. Glore Jr. time enough to reach Florida before late on the night of Saturday, March 22, he and Miss Dolores Mummert have decided to be married on the following day. The Sunday ceremony will take place in the afternoon at the home of Mrs. Glore's cousin, Mrs. George Hixon, in Jacksonville.

It will be a very simple wedding, with only three attendants. Miss Mummert's sister, Mrs. W. Gibson Payne, with whom she lives in Fort Worth, Tex., will be her matron of honor and Mr. Glore's sister, Miss Frances Glore, will be maid of honor. Hixon Glore will be best man for his brother.

After a wedding trip to a resort near Jacksonville, Mr. Glore and his bride will be at home in Boston while he finishes his studies at Babson.

Barbara Lewis Engaged to William H. Behrens Jr.

At a tea at home in Glencoe yesterday Mr. and Mrs. Reuben A. Lewis Jr. announced the engagement of their daughter, Barbara Stewart, to William H. Behrens Jr. of East Orange, N. J. Miss Lewis, a granddaughter of the late Clare Briggs, famed cartoonist, is a graduate of the Roycemore school and attended Vassar college. Mr. Behrens has been engaged in business in Chicago for the last year. He is a graduate of Wesleyan university in Connecticut.

At a family dinner yesterday, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Tucker Wilder of Glencoe announced the engagement of their daughter, Barbara, to James Sutherland, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Sutherland of Glencoe.

Miss Wilder attended Mills college for two years and was graduated from the University of Chicago. Mr. Sutherland studied at Deerfield academy. He is engaged in business in Chicago.

Hunt Hamill will go east in April to be an usher at the wedding on April 5 of his Harvard classmate, Vinton Freedley Jr., and Miss Nancy Sears, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Winslow Sears of Chestnut Hill, Mass. The wedding will take place in the Church of the First Parish in Weston, Mass. Mr. Freedley is the son of the well known theatrical producer and Mrs. Freedley of New York and Pomfret, Conn.

Scribner-Shoemaker Prenuptial Parties.

Prenuptial entertaining for Miss Helen Shoemaker and Gilbert Hill Scribner Jr., who will be married on March 22, will extend up the north shore as far as Milwaukee. On Saturday, the Warren W. Shoemakers' daughter and her fiancé will go to Milwaukee, where the William Van Dykes will give a dinner party for them that night. They will return in time for a cocktail party planned for the following day by the Gordon Hoovers of Northfield.

Mrs. Ernest von Ammon will entertain at luncheon next Monday and the following afternoon is reserved on the bride's calendar for Mrs. Edwin T. Konsberg's luncheon. Three parties are planned for March 19—Mrs. Richard Walsh's breakfast, Mrs. Albert F. Winston's kitchen shower, and Mrs. Leslie Cooke's dinner.

Guests at Mrs. Robert Butz's luncheon on March 20 will bring recipes to be tested in the bride's new kitchen, and that evening Miss

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

This is one of those pictures hard to classify, because, while it so often has nuttin' it still decidedly HAS something.

Let's be big hearted and turn the spotlight on the "something."

This has to do with the unflagging enthusiasm of the young folks—mostly amateurs—who make up the cast. They give all they have, wholeheartedly and sometimes that all is pretty good. . . . Then, the generally tripe-y story DOES have its moments of originality and suspense. . . . And the couple of old-timers in the cast lend genuine luster.

The action is built around the disappointments, struggles, ingenuity and final success of a gang of young WPA troupers who, just as they are about to open in a new show written by one of them, are informed that the government has no more funds for their maintenance. . . . The composer and a couple of male headliners are given house room in the deserted theater the company had hoped to fill. . . . To their number is added a stage struck maiden of considerable intelligence who just "happens" in, and remains till the end.

A bunch of counterfeit money used with no malice aforethought, but taking unto itself pins and needles, figures actively in further developments. . . . The finale is all to the rosy.

"Dancing on a Dime" has a couple of not bad songs and some not bad dancing. AND—it's short!

See you tomorrow.

Looking at Hollywood
By John Chapman

Diary of a Movie Correspondent.

Hollywood, Cal., March 9.—Sunday—A mixture of work, golf, and gin rummy, with no particular success to be reported in any department. Last night's dinner at the Herb Polesies' a pleasant affair.

Monday—To the Green room for lunch with James Cagney, who brings along a box of saccharine and has a toasted cheese sandwich and tea. Cagney and Bette Davis will finish "The Bride Came C. O. D." this week and Jim and his wife will head for Florida. . . . An evening session with an income tax expert, and after my small affairs are listed he talks of the finances of the movie colony. Actors, writers, and musicians, he says, are all dopes about money.

Tuesday—To the Columbia studio to watch Rudy Vallee, the Glen Gray band and 100 dress extras make a night club scene for "Time Out for Rhythm." It's the first movie for the Gray outfit, which is the most successful coöperative, share and share alike band in the business. The boys ducked the films for years, having been frightened by the dreadful musical shorts Hollywood and New York used to turn out.

Wednesday—At the desk all day, and in the evening with the John Larkins to see John's newest whodunit, "Murder Among Friends." Ray McCarey has kept it moving fast and it's a good murder mystery. There's a possibility that the film may develop into a series, with Marjorie Weaver, who is dizzy but smart, and John Hubbard, who is dumb but willing, as a pair of amateur crime solvers.

Thursday—To R. K. O., and a visit in Ginger Rogers' tufted blue satin dressing room. On each tuft—and there are hundreds—is pinned a square of paper with a drawing of an Oscar on it. Just a reminder from the crew, for the Academy took Ginger's statue away from her the day after she got it—took back all the others, too—to have them engraved. . . . In the evening to see "That Night in Rio," and it's one of the best musical pictures I ever saw. Mr. Zanuck's other good will picture, "Down Argentine Way," was more than a little silly, both as a movie and as good will. The new one is a dandy—funny, good tunes, naughty in a tasteful way [it's a sort of musical version of "The Guardsman"] and it provides room for Carmen Miranda, the Brazilian Bomb, to explode.

Friday—To 20th Century-Fox for a call on Jack Haley, Betty Grable, and Carole Landis on the "Miami" set, and then to the Spanish street to watch Tyrone Power do a "Blood and Sand" take. Haley looks set for a new start in Hollywood, as should be, because he's a very funny guy. After "Miami" he'll do a picture at Warners'.

Saturday—A morning of work, and then to Lakeside.

New Swagger Topcoat Sure Sign of Spring

BY REA SEEGER.

Sure signs of the annual spring fever for something new are the light colored topcoats that slide over dark winter suits and alternate for the fur jacket or too bulky long fur coat. They are warm enough to repel the coldest Chicago wind, even tho the color is decidedly pastel. Natural tints, pale blues, a few gold tones, some delectable strawberry reds, and pale pinks offer plenty in the way of color uplift. The fabrics are soft and slightly fuzzy, another trick that adds to the comfort of a chilly day.

We found one collection of brave new spring beauties that boast price marks considerably under 20 dollars. The finds were sensational! Most of them were of the classic straight line swaggers. One model was especially exciting because of the nice, swishy taffeta lining, the same shade as the wool, and the hand sewn trim around the collar and pockets. A belted model had the swanky back fullness stitched flatly into the belt that tied casually in front.

Handsome rough textured fabrics make other coats just what you need as the companion to a similarly textured two piece suit or as the contrast for good looking jersey dresses. All the beige and pastel shades are as abundantly featured in these tweeds as in the softer flannel-like materials.

Reversible topcoats are still the delight, and almost necessity, of the career girl as well as the co-ed. The spring colors make these finds, too, and since most of them are tagged with mercifully low price marks, the spring budgets will not warp or strain over the purchase.

Strange Judas

SYNOPSIS.

Don Barron, young American newspaper man, is sent to rescue Paul Darmal, a financier and an opponent of the Nazi régime. His plan is to let Darmal take his place on a Swedish boat and flee Germany. But when Barron arrives, he finds his plans have been intercepted by the Nazis and he is left in Germany to figure some other way of getting Darmal out. He receives a message from a street hawker and goes to a nearby saloon to decipher it. He realizes he is being followed by secret service agents but he manages to reach Darmal's place of concealment where he finds Darmal has been forced to flee to another refuge. He meets Hertha, Darmal's stepdaughter, Twysden, the local agent in their rescue plan and Darmal's granddaughter, Sigi. He distrusts Sigi, but accepts her offer to lead him to Darmal's new hiding place.

INSTALMENT VII.

MARKED VAN.

Don Barron wondered if Hertha knew of Sigi's connection with the head of the local Gestapo. She looked the last person who would dream of such a thing. From Twysden's lowering face he guessed that he did and wasn't happy about it. Well, he wasn't himself.

"You have a plan definitely worked out?" he asked Sigi.

"Yes."

"But you're not telling us?"

"Not yet," she said.

"And you're expecting me to act blind."

"Yes, I am," the tinge of mockery came again.

"That's not the way I work," he began, but Hertha broke in pleadingly:

"O, you can trust Sigi, Mr. Barron. She goes about things in her own way, but she's always right. It's been like that since the day she first saved grandfather from danger. If she's satisfied with her plans, I'm ready to join her."

"Mr. Barron is not sure, Hertha," Sigi said, her dark eyes almost disdainful in their indifference.

That was certainly true. He was telling himself that there was far too much concerning this girl that he ought to know before he ran risks. Was there any link, for instance, between her friendship with the head of the local Gestapo and these betrayals? And yet the girl's very disdain was a challenge, just as Hertha's faith in her appeal to his chivalry. Forgetting the hard sense that had made his success, he said:

"I'm sure of no one—but I'll come."

The old houses of the Hansa towns were built to serve both as the offices and homes of traders.

The ground floor was used for the display and sale of goods, the family lived above, the vast cellars below acted as stock vaults. Those cellars still exist, altho their old trade uses have gone. It was to the cellars Sigi led them.

These cellars of the Hansa have also had a history other than the warehousing of bales and cases of goods. Their labyrinthine caverns served good purpose when war and alien rule swept over the land. They have served as shelters from Russian, Saxon, and French cannon. They have protected patriots from the headsman's ax, as well as shells, for in their intricate depths conspirators have met and dodged the law. They still maintain their advantages. Sigi was proving that now.

The ray of her torch led them back into the black depths, past huge brick pillars supporting the vaulted roof, thru doors in immensely thick walls into, it seemed, limitless darkness beyond. In a tight angle between a pillar and wall she stopped, turning her torch beam upward. They saw a small, dark manhole hidden cunningly by roof curve and shadows.

Hertha, viewing the height and darkness of that hole, gave a shivering little cry of dismay. Twysden said hotly: "I say, you can't expect us—Hertha, to squirm up thru that."

"The shadows make it look smaller than it is," Barron said. "Put your foot in my hands, Twysden—ready! All right?"

Twysden was surprisingly light metal, no difficulty in hoisting him, altho perhaps Don got a pleasant twinge of conceit as Hertha exclaimed at his unsuspected strength. He got it again when Twysden, having called out that there was plenty of room, he placed both hands on her waist and lifted her lightly upward. The soft pliancy of her body, her little gasp of admiration would have warmed even a fish. He turned to Sigi.

"No," she said evenly, and called up to Twysden. "When you have lowered Hertha on the other side, you will find hand and foot holes in the brickwood."

To Barron she said: "Will you hold that?" and giving him the torch, swarmed up by the handholes like a boy.

This was the first of a series of cleverly contrived exits by which men in any one cellar could make an escape not only along the whole terrace of houses, but under streets. In this way they traveled a considerable distance before Sigi halted them at the usual strong oak door barring the staircase.

"Where are we, Sigi?" Hertha asked excitedly as her stepsister pressed a bell. "And how exciting—how did you learn about it?"

"Foul work for hands and knees, anyhow," Sigi said, and stung by the evasive answer, Twysden sneered: "Wasn't it more damnable than necessary?"

"Who knows? Perhaps you'd have preferred S. S. tenders to come on us ganging thru the streets."

"We could have come singly," Twysden snapped.

Twysden, silenced but not satisfied, waited for the door to open. That took quite a minute, and when it was the man who appeared barred their way, his hand significantly in his pocket, while he studied each face in the bright light he had switched on. Satisfied, he gave a nod to Sigi and a fanged grin to Barron. Not without reason. He was the wolf-face tough of the beer house.

But he did not speak, just turned and went up the stairs ahead of them until they reached a small, rough room on the ground floor. It was fitted like an office and motor storeroom, and looking thru the nearest window Barron saw a big, covered-in garage outside. Being night, it was full of vehicles, mostly tradesmen's vans and haulage trucks. Steel shutters cut off all view of the street.

"Why, it's Steyer's," Hertha said in surprise. "Three streets away."

"Darling, nothing is hidden from you, except that it is four streets," Sigi said. "And Steyer is not mentioned. This is a hush-hush job between me and Knust—eh, Knust?"

"It would shatter the liver of so good a party man as Steyer, even to suspect it," the wolf-faced Knust grinned.

"What's all this?" Twysden asked, for Knust handed him a bundle of clothes.

"Brown shirt, breeches, leggings," the man said. "Also a rubber truncheon. Also a pistol. You can change them without blushes in the little room behind you."

"Why the masquerading?" Twysden asked peevishly.

"It's easier to pass among Adolf's cherubim looking like one of them yourself," Knust chuckled. He fished about in another locker and produced a worn brown shirt. "This will fit you," he told Barron.

"And me, Sigi?" Hertha cried.

"You are to be a woodman's mild wife," Sigi said, and drew her into the manager's office.

Fifteen minutes later they were throwing the bundles of their discarded clothes into a small, closed van belonging to a grocery and delicatessen firm. There was a big stack of food parcels and crates of wine and beer in the van, but between this and the partition shutting off the driver's seat there was ample space for all of them to sit.

Hertha, with a colored handkerchief over her smooth hair, seemed better worth looking at than ever in spite of her shabby peasant's dress. Excitement had added a rich color to her face. Her eyes sparkled at the cleverness of Sigi's plan. That van, she saw, would carry them thru guards without one of them realizing what was passing.

Don Barron said cheerfully, "Jump to it, Twysden—help Miss Hertha inside." He turned to Sigi, who had not changed her clothes. "And you?"

"I'm coming in with you—for the journey out," she said, and then almost gratefully. "You, anyhow, don't mind running the risk."

"O, I'm always scared stiff by risks," he said mildly. "But are there to be any?"

"Why do you say that—like that?" her dark eyes fixed his with a strange intentness. "Why shouldn't there be risks?"

"Don't know. Unless those chalk marks scrawled on the sides and back of the van tell another story than I think."

'Upside-Down' Cake Takes to Various Ideas

BY MARY MEADE.

[Copyright: 1941: By The Chicago Tribune.]

Any good plain cake recipe is eligible for the upside-down treatment. It should be a small recipe, containing not much more than 1¼ or 1½ cups of flour, or there'll be too much batter for a skillet or upside-down cake pan.

Chocolate, spice, or gingerbread recipes may be used, as well as plain cake recipes, but the plain cake is far more popular, since it usually makes a better combination with fruit. Spice or gingerbread foundations are better if the topping is to be mincemeat but, with this exception, the plain cake gets preference.

Upside Down Cake.

1¼ cups sifted cake flour
1¼ teaspoons baking powder
¾ teaspoon salt
¼ cup shortening
¾ cup sugar
1 egg, beaten
½ cup milk
½ teaspoon vanilla
¼ cup butter
½ cup brown sugar
Fruit

Sift dry ingredients together. Cream sugar and shortening until light, and add egg. Alternately add dry ingredients and milk to creamed mixture and beat until smooth after each addition. Add vanilla. Melt butter in an iron skillet, add brown sugar, and stir until melted. Arrange fruit in the butter and sugar. Pour in cake batter. Bake at 350 degrees about 45 minutes. Turn out on a serving plate. Serve warm or cold with whipped cream.

FRUITS FOR UPSIDE DOWN CAKE.

Any of these would be attractive and good: Pineapple slices with pitted cooked prunes or maraschino cherries; canned peaches and whole pecans; peaches or pears and maraschino cherries; sliced apples alone or with raisins; cooked dried apricots and prunes; canned cherries [use white sugar with cherries, and a little more of it, if they're sour]; bananas and pineapple slices; or bananas and nuts.

Maple sugar or sirup may be used in place of brown sugar, and is delicious with apples, bananas, or pineapple as the fruit. Or with only nuts.

Upside down cake batter may be baked without the fruit and sauce, to be used as cottage pudding or served with chocolate sauce.

Teacher Asks Gifts of Shuttlecocks for Crippled Children

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.]

All Chicagoans should be proud of the outstanding work being done for crippled children in our schools. The city was one of the pioneers in this field and the facilities now available for handicapped youngsters have been models for educators in this branch of specialized training.

Because every pupil has a handicap of one sort or another, the individual child does not regard himself as unusual, and the average youngster in such a school is unselfconscious and natural.

Here's a teacher's plea:

"Dear Miss Brown," she writes, "I am a teacher, appealing for badminton equipment for our crippled children. A great number of them are able to play this game, but we frequently run out of shuttlecocks for practice.

"Do you suppose that any individual or club which discards old ones which are still usable would be willing to send them to us? We would consider it a signal favor.

"Thank you for any consideration you may give us."

The name and address of the writer will be given to any interested reader.

Two New Jumper Costumes

MISS' SPRING FROCKS.

The jumper style simply will not die, so we had to dress it up for spring, and we know you will like these two new versions, which you may make of either silk or cotton, or unite the two. If you prefer, make the skirts of soft, sheer woolen. Both styles go well to school and office, if you're young and slim.

Style No. 3354 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20. Size 16 requires 3¾ yards of 39 inch material for jumper; 1½ yards for blouse.

Style No. 2519 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20. Size 16 requires 2⅝ yards of 39 inch material for jumper; 1⅝ yards for blouse.

Each pattern costs 10 cents.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

For 15 cents buy the spring Chicago Tribune book of Clotilde Fashions, on sale at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower; 10 cents if ordered with a pattern. Address mail orders to the New York address above.

Authors' Meeting.

A meeting of considerable interest to two famous literary figures took place yesterday when Somerset Maugham and Henry Miller, expatriate for 20 years, who, now in this country, met for the first time. Miller came to Chicago especially to meet Maugham and to hear him lecture at Thorne hall tomorrow evening under the auspices of the English Speaking union as a British war relief benefit. Miller, author of The Cosmological Eye, has been asked by his publishers to do a book on his impressions of America after being an expatriate for 20 years. He deflected his tour of America, on which he is accompanied by Artist Abe Rattner, who will illustrate his book, so he and Maugham might meet.

Most of Henry Miller's books have not been published in America because of the censor's objection. Altho a man in very modest circumstances, he declined a publisher's advance offer of $5,000 if he would expurgate his Tropic of Cancer for American publication. Sculptor Jo Davidson has done a portrait of Miller. A quiet spoken, conventional looking man, his conversation is extraordinarily gentle in tone.

"The strictest censor could find nothing to delete in Miller's conversation," said Ben Abramson, who has corresponded with him for several years.

Coat of Arms.

A Chicago restaurateur discovered that his family is entitled to a coat of arms. At considerable expense he found out the interpretation of the insignia. The blue chevron meant that his ancestor had protected his king and country; the three roses meant that as the perfume of the rose is more precious than its beauty, so was the honor of the owner more precious than his wealth and position. The silver swords with golden handles meant he had fought for justice. After finding out all this, the restaurateur could hardly wait to use his coat of arms. It is now the insignia on the "26" chips at his Ricketts restaurant, Diversey and Clark.

CAMPUS LIFE.

The moon dew silvers
The Lakka trees
In my dream . . .

From behind the pearl screen
Of my dream
Comes the sweet lute playing
Of a tiny porcelain girl
Robed in yellow . . .

My head rests on a pillow
Softer than willow cotton,
Fragrant as an incense cloud . . .

Suddenly I am torn from my dream
By the outcry of my Alarm Clock
And I hasten to dress.

Grief filled,
And lonely for my dream
I remember my Examination
And grope
Thru the merciless pages
Of a book which threatens
To endow me with Culture
Entitled Geometrical Researches
On the Theory of Parallels
By a demon from Hell
Named Lobachevski.

NYA Orchestra Starts Spring Concert Series

BY EDWARD BARRY.

The Chicago National Youth administration symphony orchestra, which has been lurking in the background of the city's musical life since 1935, emerged into the full limelight last night to play the first of a series of three spring concerts at the Goodman theater.

Under Irwin Fischer's direction the 55 young [17 to 24] men and women who compose the orchestra presented a pleasantly unpretentious program in a pleasantly unpretentious manner. Pieces such as Beethoven's "Coriolanus" overture and Schubert's Fifth Symphony were set forth cleanly, fluently, and with a delightful air of spontaneity.

Even Kodály's "Summer Eve," which poses somewhat more difficult musical problems, was projected in a manner which did justice to its murmurous, impressionistic character This work, by the way, had never before been performed in Chicago.

Soloist of the evening was a youthful pianist, Paul Parmelee by name, who played Franck's Symphonic Variations with considerable lyrical feeling and, toward the end, with a very respectable sparkle.

Dates of the other two concerts [also at the Goodman] are March 23 and April 6.

In Kimball hall yesterday afternoon the Polish Arts club presented two young artists in debut recital. Raymond Niwa, violinist, played a Vieuxtemps concerto and a miscellany of shorter pieces both old and new. Jeanette Pytlowany, pianist, built her program around Beethoven's "Pathetique" Sonata and Chopin's A-flat Ballade.

Mr. Niwa uses a fervent, deeply introspective style which suits the character of his instrument admirably. His tone is almost always rich and full bodied, and he phrases with genuine eloquence. Once in a while he tries such typically youthful tricks as attempting to conceal, by means of a surface glitter, the fact that a certain passage or a certain piece does not yet mean anything to him musically. Examples of this were the closing pages of the concerto's first movement and the little piece which followed it as encore.

Miss Pytlowany has a nice liquid tone and the ability to deliver a melody with a beautiful succinctness and clarity. In general, she would profit by relaxing a little and allowing her musical imagination better play, for at her present stage her playing is too rigid.

George Rott provided extraordinary accompaniments for Mr. Niwa.

The Chicago Symphonic choir, Walter Aschenbrenner, director, offered in Orchestra hall yesterday a program of sacred and secular music and folk songs. In the sacred music the eastern church as well as the western was represented. Several of the pieces appeared in arrangements by Mr. Aschenbrenner, and one of them —a Gloria in Eastern Orthodox style —had been composed by him.

The choir sang with its familiar purity of tone and precision of style. A feature of the concert was the frequent appearance of members of the choir in important solo parts. The audience applauded cordially.

Universal Day—Get an early start today on the things you want to accomplish this week. Don't hesitate.

Personal Days—Here are some additional keywords for the personal days as given in your personal chart. Clip these out and put them with your chart.

One-Days — Creative - Energetic - Independent - Inventive - Ambitious - Positive - Determined - Aggressive. Beware of being stubborn, willful, selfish, headstrong, arrogant.

Make decisions, act on your initiative, seek new ways of doing things, take necessary action, make appointments, and start anything which concerns you personally and will further your personal ambitions. On this day you can give your attention to your own interests, but should try not to be too egotistical or rash. Decisions should be made with judgment, and they should be definite and constructive.

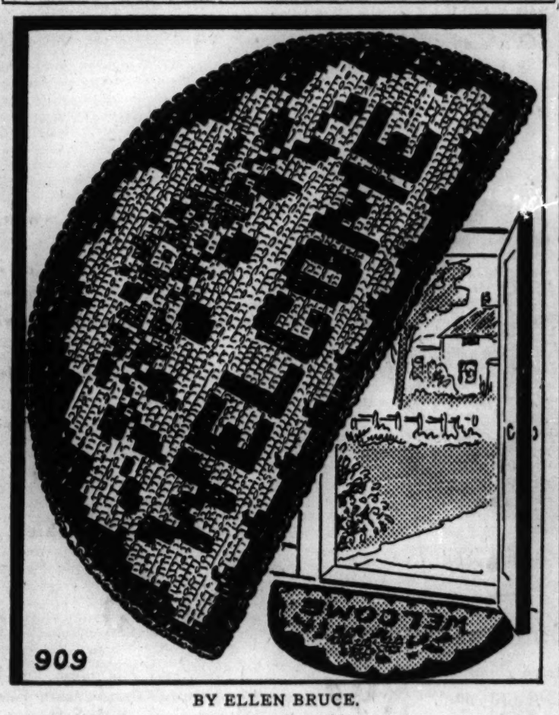
Crocheted "Welcome" Mat



BY ELLEN BRUCE.

This good looking, crocheted "welcome" mat affords a brief word of cheer to friends and family alike as they cross the threshold. It is easy to crochet and is worked in three colors in such a simple method, even a beginning crochet worker may attempt it. These "welcome" mats are attractive gifts for the bride or new homeowner.

For instructions in crocheting the "welcome" mat, No. 909, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 5th avenue, New York City.

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
1 diamond	Pass	Pass	Double
Pass	1 no trump	Pass	2 spades
Pass	3 spades	Pass	4 spades
Pass	Pass	Pass

West opened the diamond king and, when East signaled with the eight, continued with the ace. Declarer ruffed and guessed the spade queen wrong, that is, he went over to dummy's ace and finessed on the return, losing to West's queen. West, seeing no reason to "pump" the declarer, returned a spade, and eventually declarer lost three heart tricks for a penalty of 200 points.

Shrewd card placing from the bidding would have made this contract easy. South should have known that it was almost certain that West held the heart ace over his king. Having already lost a diamond, three heart losers in themselves would defeat him, regardless of the location of the spade queen. Thus, his one chance was to get rid of a heart in some fashion, and the only method offering hope was to play for a so-called "dummy-reversal."

After ruffing the second diamond, South should have led to dummy's nine of spades. This would be a forced finesse, part and parcel of the dummy-reversal plan. If the nine held, a third round of diamonds should be ruffed, the club ten used as entry, and the fourth diamond ruffed. The spade king then should be laid down, and dummy's club jack used as entry for the cashing of the spade ace, which would draw the last adverse trump. On this South would discard a heart, then would overtake the club king in order to cash his fourth club. Finally, he would concede two heart tricks.

Perhaps the most drastic of all changes in the Culbertson system concerns the opening two-bid, or, to be more explicit, the conventional responses to that bid.

Heretofore, when your partner opened with a suit bid of two, the first thought that struck you was that the bidding had to be held open until game was reached or the opponents were doubled to your satisfaction. Your second thought was that, in order to make any response except the negative two no trump, your hand would have to contain at least one honor trick, usually one-plus honor trick.

There has not been, and will not be, any change in the first mentioned injunction, that is, an opening two-bid in a suit still is definitely forcing until game is reached. I have, however, reduced the requirements for so-called "positive" responses. Now, when your partner opens with a suit bid of two, and you hold a five card suit headed by the king or the Q-J, you are permitted to mention your suit directly. This also applies to any six card or longer suit. Thus, for example, your partner having opened the bidding with two spades, if you hold ♠ 2 ♥ Q J 8 5 3 ♦ 6 4 3 2 ♣ 6 4 2 your correct response is three hearts, not two no trump.

There are the soundest possible reasons for this change, which, I assure readers, was not made frivolously or arbitrarily, but only after the most profound analysis and research. Tomorrow I will go into this matter further.

'The Student Prince' Gains by New Kathie

For the final week of "The Student Prince" at the Grand opera house, Barbara Scully, a young lyric soprano from Detroit, replaces Yola Gaul in the ingénue rôle of Kathie. At Saturday's matinée, her first performance, Miss Scully acted her part with complete security, making resourceful and rather attractive use of many familiar clichés of moving picture acting. And she is, in truth, pretty and winsome enough to be a logical candidate for a screen test, especially since her slender lyric soprano voice would sound more effective on a sound track than it does in the Grand Opera house.

The whole performance is noticeably improved by the presence of a believable Kathie. Since the opening night, too, the male chorus has made good strides, both in singing and in action, until it is now fully satisfactory. With the excellent assistance of Donald Gage, a top tenor whose voice production is reminiscent of Fernand Ansseau, the one-time French tenor of the Chicago Civic Opera company, the ensembles of male chorus music raise the roof, and fulfill their intended purpose more fully than on the opening night. Pierre de Reeder, the admirable conductor, keeps the music moving at an excellent pace.

Already some of the announcements made on yesterday's drama page have become out of date because of shifting plans for local bookings.

Ed Wynn's new musical revue, "Boys and Girls Together," has been added to the list of coming attractions, and will take over the Selwyn theater on Sunday, March 30.

The return engagement of "The Man Who Came to Dinner," with Alexander Woollcott, will be housed in the Erlanger theater on April 14, instead of the Selwyn.

"Cabin in the Sky," the Negro musical fantasy with Ethel Waters, Katherine Dunham, and Todd Duncan, may reach Chicago well before the date of May 5 announced yesterday, if a suitable theater can be found.

And word from New York indicates that the revival of "Charley's Aunt," with José Ferrer in the title rôle, and the new Theater Guild production of Sophie Treadwell's play, "Hope for a Harvest," starring Fredric March and his wife, Florence Eldridge, would both like to rent theaters in Chicago in April. ★ THRU THE ★ LOOKING GLASS

With rather surprising frequency women ask us whether it wouldn't be wiser and cheaper to make their own beauty creams and lotions or to have them made up by a local druggist. We think the answer to that one is "No."

First of all, we don't think any home mixed cream is better than a marketed one. Beauty is big business. Houses that make the creams and lotions we women use have a reputation to maintain; they strive, day in and day out, to better their products and to give Mrs. Consumer something superior to the offerings of their competitors.

* *

All marketed creams are pure. When the cosmetic industry was in its infancy there were some slip-ups on this score. Today a harmful preparation is impossible to market. There are stiff laws governing formulae and the claims made for any product and in addition each outlet, such as the drug store or department store, weighs the merits of preparations carefully. Consumer protection is of tremendous importance to them, as you can readily realize. All talk of impure cosmetics is sheer nonsense.

And it's not economy to make one's own creams. Buying a bit of this and a bit of that is costly. The manufacturers, who buy in great volume, are naturally in a position to give you much more for your money. Your druggist's time in mixing preparations must be paid for, too. We know, because not long ago, just to find out, we tried to follow the advice of one of the experts who advocated home-made creams. We ended up in a mess —and in the red!

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The Blackhawks last night chose their 45th regulation game of the National Hockey league schedule to settle their fifth place status officially, but not until they had been forced to a 2 to 2 draw by the New York Americans before a crowd of 13,982 in the Chicago Stadium. The tie enabled the Hawks to end all doubt about their ultimate possessions of the fifth spot in the standings.

The Montreal Canadiens, whom the Chicagoans will face in the Stanley cup playoffs, have only one game remaining, and even with a victory in that they couldn't overhaul the Hawks, who can lose all three of the games they still have to play.

Americans Put on Rally.

The Americans, already officially bereft of any delusions about a playoff berth, proved just ornery enough to keep the customers in suspense last night. After spotting the Hawks a 2 to 0 lead, they came back to tie the score early in the third period, and then to deport themselves as tho they were playing the final game of the cup series.

The contest didn't develop any excitement until the middle of the second session. Referee Bill Stewart was forced to call only three penalties for the entire distance. Two were the result of a fistic brush between George Allen of the Hawks and Norm Larson of the Americans, and the third jailed Joe Cooper for holding Busher Jackson.

Goalie Earl Robertson proved so obstinate about thrusting back the Hawk rushes that it was not until the 19th minute of the first period that Joe Papike, collaborating with Doug and Max Bentley, beat the New York veteran for the first Chicago goal. In the sixth minute of the second period Doug Bentley, on a heroic solo dash, split the American defense and scored easily.

The Americans got their first score on a shot by Lorne Carr, who was assisted by Buzz Boll in a maneuver on which Sam Lo Presti, the Hawk goalie, had his vision unintentionally blocked by Cooper.

Americans Tie Score.

In the first minute of the third period, Boll teamed with big Charley Conacher and Carr to tie the score.

Capture of fifth place entitles the Hawks to choice of first home ice for the two out of three series with the Canadiens in the cup series. The first game will be played here on March 20, the second in the Montreal forum on March 22, and a third, if necessary, will also be decided in the Stadium.

In the Wake of the News

BY ARCH WARD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

NEW YORK, March 9.—Tomorrow night the war drums will roll in Madison Square Garden, two white beams will break out from the balconies and spotlight brave boys clad for fighting. . . . There will be the quick shrill of a whistle, the deep clang of the Garden bell and New York's annual Golden Gloves Tournament of Champions will be off to its thrilling and dramatic finish. . . . Young men from Miami to Maine who fight for fun will battle it out for a place on the team which on March 26 will square off against Chicago's amateur boxing champions in the fourteenth annual Intercity bouts in Chicago Stadium. . . . When the firing has subsided in Chicago's huge arena Uncle Sam will know the identity of his bravest and most skilful punchers. . . . They will be the survivors of a field which originally numbered in excess of 35,000 young Americans—23,000 in the Chicago tournament and more than 12,000 in New York's. . . . There are various Amateur Athletic Union tournaments and imitations of Golden Gloves, but in number of contestants, caliber of competition and spectator interest the event sponsored by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE and the New York News stands alone. . . .

Earlier in this column we referred to boys who fight for fun. . . . That probably is a misleading phrase. . . . We doubt that any one fights for fun. . . . There can't be much pleasure in getting a smack on the nose, a cut over the eye, or a left hook to the pit of the stomach. . . . We never have met a man who got a thrill out of taking punishment. . . . Yes, fun is the wrong word. . . . Release is a better one. . . . Release from the humdrum and routine of life comes to boys when they don the colors of New York or Chicago in Intercity Golden Gloves. . . . For most of them it's a brand new experience to hear themselves acclaimed by 21,000 fans when they step into the spotlight's white glare. . . . When the fight begins they share attention with their opponent, but when it is over and they have won, they stand alone as the focal point for 21,000 pairs of eyes. . . . Many a man would take a punch on the nose for that. . . . The toughest thing in the world is to be ignored. . . . For a few brief moments the fellows who comprise New York's and Chicago's boxing teams are important. . . . They're the whole show. . . .

There will be no more interested observer of the goings-on in Madison Square Garden the next three nights than Old Pop Knickerbocker himself. . . . Do you know that his fistic ambassadors haven't whipped Chicago's since 1934? . . . The old boy is a trifle punch drunk from the beatings he has been taking. . . . He is screaming for revenge. . . . Father Dearborn, that young upstart from the midwest prairies, can't do that to him and get away with it. . . . We'll know more about that after we have seen the eastern field reduced to eight champions come Wednesday night. . . . One thing we know. . . . The boys from the Atlantic seaboard had better be good or they'll get their blocks knocked off when they run up against the gang we have assembled from Texas, Ohio, Michigan, Oklahoma, Illinois, and intermediate points. . . .

It has been so long since New York won a match from Chicago we had to dig up the records to find out what manner of men it had in those days. . . . The score of the 1934 contest was 10 to 6 for New York and among its winners were Bob Pastor, recently a contender for the world's heavyweight championship, and Melio Bettina, currently a professional light heavyweight star. . . . Paul Gallico was commander in chief of the New York forces in those days. . . . His successor, Bill Fritzinger, apparently has assembled another group comparable to the 1934 crowd. . . . They're already talking about what they're going to do to our kids on March 26. . . . Maybe so. . . . We're not the kind to take anything for granted. . . . However, we do wish to remind our New York rivals that a pair of educated dukes is far more important in this type of competition than militant tonsils.

A Squeaky Complaint.

There are squeaky boards on the living room floor
And a squeaky place on the stair,
So how can a fellow come in at three
Without being caught unaware?
For mother calls out at the first squeaky step,
"Is that you? You're late tonight,
Don't waken dad—have you locked the door
And put out the living room light?"
Why should a mother be wide awake
When a fellow comes in at three,
And yet be asleep on a winter night,
If he has forgotten the key?

—Florence E. J. Mitchell.

About Those Gas Masks.

"United States Ordering Gas Masks for Civilian Use"—news headline. Well, for my money the government or anybody else is not going to make the girls wear gas masks unless they happen to harmonize with what they're wearing at the time. "What! Put on one of those homely old brown things with this new beige outfit? My dear, don't be silly. I'll be gassed first!"

Just fancy a flirtation with a girl in a drug store and saying: "How about taking off your gas mask, honey, and having a cup of coffee?" And to have her reply: "But I'm not wearing any gas mask." Ouch!

—Jazbo of Old Dubuque.

In a Spot of Green.

They have gathered my friend to rest
In a little spot of green,
Hands folded upon his breast,
Eyes closed in a sleep serene;
He has found a sweet release
From the cares of the busy day,
And his soul shall be at peace
Set free from its house of clay.

O sweet be his sleep tonight,
And white be the dreams he dreams,
And soft may the morning light
Enshroud him in silver beams;
And there thru the long, long years,
Out under the changing sky,
May he know the prayers and tears
Of the mourners passing by.

MERULLO LEADS CUBS' YANNIGANS TO 9-4 TRIUMPH

Shortstop Gets Four Hits; Homer for Cavarretta.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Avalon, Cal., March 9.—Cub Regulars and Yannigans, despite the absence of Manager Jim Wilson and six of the lads, this afternoon played the first nine inning game of the season.

The Yannigans resumed the lead in the series, two games to one, by winning, 9 to 4. Len [Young Jurges] Merullo made four hits in his first four times up and batted in a run his fifth trip to the plate. Phil Cavarretta hit a homer and a double, drove in four and scored three runs.

Jake Mooty was the best of the pitchers. No runs and only two singles were accomplished by the Regulars in Jake's three inning stint.

Three Stay on Mainland.

Coaches Charley Grimm and Dick Spalding were able to put together two full teams, playing athletes in positions with which they had some familiarity and without using pitchers in the outfield.

Manager Wilson, Dizzy Dean, Claude Passeau, and Bill Herman returned to camp by plane late today after their participation in the All-Star game in Hollywood. Lou Novikoff, Lou Stringer, and Larry French will rejoin the squad at noon tomorrow.

Play Again Today.

Tomorrow the players will get off with another intraclub game and a batting practice, but Tuesday the exercise will be stepped up to two workouts a day for the remainder of the stay on Catalina Island.

The Cubs will break camp Friday and on Saturday will open their exhibition season in Los Angeles with the Philadelphia Athletics furnishing the opposition. Score:

BURNS IS VICTOR IN BADMINTON TOURNEY FINAL

Jerry Burns of Detroit won the fourth annual Midwest Badminton association men's singles championship yesterday at New Trier high school in Winnetka.

Burns later teamed with Warren to beat Harry Conlan and Lyle Shortz of Chicago in the doubles final, 15-3, 17-18, 15-7.

Wilma Shortz of Chicago retained the women's singles title by winning on a default from Constance O'Donovan of Detroit. Miss O'Donovan was forced to the sidelines by a sprained ankle. Other results:

WOMEN'S DOUBLES.

VETERAN'S DOUBLES.

Courtney Davis and Jack Taylor, Winnetka, Ill., beat E. G. Gesaman and Oscar Pfeffer, Detroit, 15-14, 15-6.

MIXED DOUBLES.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Shortz, Chicago, beat Betty Agnew and John Prest, Chicago, 15-9, 15-7.

Coach Leahy and Aids Map Drill for Irish

Notre Dame, Ind., March 9 [Special].—A new régime in Notre Dame football will begin Wednesday when Frank Leahy, 32 year old director of athletics and head football coach, conducts his first spring practice.

The first day's activities will be confined to newsreel and newspaper picture taking and interviews, after which Leahy, who arrived here yesterday from Boston, hopes to get down to fundamentals.

"We are very anxious to get started," Leahy said today. "I know there will be lots of work to do with such a large squad between now and the annual spring game between the new varsity and the graduating players on April 26."

Layden Dinner Is Tonight.

The new Irish coach played right tackle with the 1929 Notre Dame national champions, but injuries prevented him from winning his letter as a senior in 1930. Leahy will attend a testimonial dinner for Elmer Layden tomorrow night. Leahy was named to succeed the new commissioner of professional football on Feb. 14.

Leaders from all walks of life will be on the Layden dinner program, and 1,000 are expected. Paul G. Hoffman, president of the Studebaker corporation, will be toastmaster. Appreciation of Layden's work at Notre Dame will be expressed by the Rev. John J. Cavanaugh, C. S. C., vice president of Notre Dame and chairman of the board in control of athletics.

The Old and New Confer.

Leahy's arrival was preceded by that of his assistants, Ed McKeever, John Druze, and Joe McArdle, who formed his staff at Boston college. McKeever, who played with the Notre Dame B team in 1930 and finished at Texas Tech, will handle the back field. Druze, former Fordham captain, will be in charge of ends and tackles. McArdle, also a former Fordham star, will coach guards and centers.

The new Irish coach spent his day dictating letters and conferring with his assistants who previously had consulted with Chet Grant and Joe Benda, retiring back field and end coach, respectively, regarding squad personnel.

RUNYAN CARDS 67 TO LEAD FLORIDA WEST COAST OPEN

Bellair, Fla., March 9(AP).—Paul Runyan of White Plains, N. Y., clipped four strokes from par for a 67 to take a one stroke lead on the opening round of the 54 hole Florida West Coast Open here today. Six other professionals bettered par, with Joe Zarnhardt of Norristown, Pa., in second place with a 68. Craig Wood of Mamaroneck, N. Y., and Willie Goggin of Miami, Fla., carded 69. The 70 bracket included Henry Picard of Hershey, Pa.; Chick Harbert of Battle Creek, Mich., and Sam Snead of Hot Springs, Va.

MUNGO SETS 'EM UP AND DODGERS SET HIM DOWN!

One of the Boys at the Bar Is Manager Durocher.

HAVANA, Cuba, March 9 [Special].—Things happened again today in the camp of the Brooklyn Dodgers, where there never is a dull moment.

First, Van Lingle Mungo, one time star right hander, was fined $200 and banished from the island. Second, the Dodgers lost their first exhibition game of the year when Cleveland won the first contest of a double header, 8 to 4. The National leaguers came back to win the five inning second game, tho, 3 to 0, before 10,000.

Challenges Durocher.

In announcing the most drastic punishment against a player since he took charge of the club, Larry MacPhail, Dodgers' president, said Mungo was guilty of violating training rules and of being drunk and disorderly.

After a night of celebration, according to club officials, Mungo entered the Dodgers' dressing room this afternoon and announced he was pitching the first game. Manager Leo Durocher informed him otherwise, and Mungo challenged the pilot to fight.

Last night, Mungo, who has been with the Dodgers 10 years, entered a hotel bar and offered to buy every one in the place a drink. It was his misfortune that Manager Durocher and Coach Charley Dressen were at the other end of the bar.

Mungo Ordered to Georgia.

Mungo, one time Brooklyn idol who has been troubled with a sore arm for years, was ordered to report at Macon, Ga., where Montreal of the International league, a Dodger farm club, will go into training Saturday. It was said Mungo's deportment there will determine his status this year with the Dodgers.

The Indians knocked out Lee Grissom in the fifth inning of the first game, scoring five runs, the first six men facing the southpaw reaching base. Bob Feller yielded three of the four runs made by Brooklyn. Don Ross hit a two-run homer in the fourth inning of the second game. It was called after the Indians batted in the fifth to enable them to catch a boat. Scores:

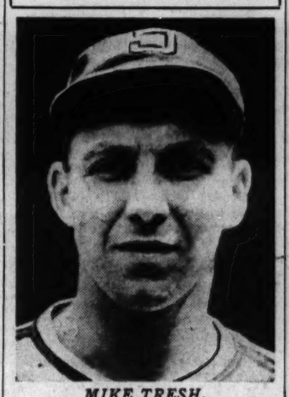
Matt Wins National Ski Combined Championship

Aspen, Colo., March 9 (AP).—Toni Matt, of North Conway, N. H., won the National Ski combined championship at storm-shrouded Roch Run today. After taking the downhill speed test on the twisting western Colorado strip yesterday, Matt took second place in the slalom race in blinding snow today. He scored 234 points based on the two performances. Dick Durrance of Alta, Utah, lost both his downhill and combined events crowns to Matt, finishing second in each. His combined score was 238. The lowest score wins. Durrance, however, won the slalom race in a combined time of 2 minutes 9.8 seconds.

Suffers Head Injury



MIKE TRESH.

Blow from Bat Fells Tresh in All-Star Game

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pasadena, Cal., March 9.—Mike Tresh, 27 year old White Sox catcher, was in a Pasadena hospital tonight as a precautionary measure following a head injury suffered this afternoon in Hollywood while he was catching for the major league All-Stars against a picked group of Coast league players.

Pepper Martin, former St. Louis Cardinal star and now manager of the Sacramento, Cal., club, accidentally struck Tresh on the side of the head with his bat while making a wild swing at a pitched ball.

Ordered to Stay in Hospital.

Jimmie Dykes, White Sox manager, who was a spectator at the game, took Tresh back to Pasadena where five stitches were taken in the scalp wound. An examination indicated the injury was not serious, but the catcher was ordered to remain overnight in the hospital. Tresh is expected back in uniform by Tuesday.

Dizzy Dean, Cub pitcher, suffered no bodily hurts, but his pride was ruffled when the minor leaguers landed on him for three hits good for three runs in the first inning while his manager, Jim Wilson, was catching. The coast players picked up two more off Edgar [Lefty] Smith of the White Sox in the third inning, which provided their margin in a 6 to 4 victory.

12,000 See Three Homers.

Lineups were frequently changed for the benefit of the 12,000 spectators. Mickey Haslin of the San Diego Padres and Elbie Fletcher and Vince DiMaggio of the Pirates hit home runs. Score:

ONCE SIX RUNS BEHIND, THEY WHIP PIRATES

Make Sixteen Hits in Season Debut.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pasadena, Cal., March 9.—The White Sox made a startling success of their 1941 exhibition inaugural today, but performed the feat only after experiencing some embarrassing moments at the hands of the National league's Pittsburgh Pirates. The Chicagoans first whittled down a seemingly hopeless handicap of six runs, and having done that they completed the job with one swing of a bat in the ninth. The swing was by Dario Lodigiani, ex-Athletic infielder, who belted one of Dick Lanahan's pitches over the left field wall for a 10 to 9 American league triumph.

The main difficulty encountered by the Sox was their own Bill [Specs] Dietrich, who, after the veteran Ted Lyons had obliged by pitching a perfect first inning, was the victim of a series of unfortunate incidents. Bill's misfortune consisted of seven hits and as many runs in two of the three sessions he worked. But his successors, Thornton [Lefty] Lee and Johnny Humphries, the former Indian, were far better, yielding the Pirates only five hits in the last five innings.

Rosenthal Busts One, Too.

Lodigiani's winning homer, the third of three hits he produced after taking over at third for Bob Kennedy, was the second hit of its type from a Chicago bat. The other was turned in by Larry Rosenthal, also off Lanahan in the seventh, and it was good for two runs which put the Sox ahead, momentarily, for the first time since the first inning. This also was Rosenthal's third hit, his two others being notched in the first three innings when Max Butcher of the Pirates was deluged with a grand total of nine hits. Butcher welcomed relief from Bob Klinger, whom the Sox slapped for three runs in as many innings.

The Sox rightfielding was handled by two freshmen, Dave Short and Thurman Tucker, their services being called on because of the sudden illness of Taft Wright, the regular performer. Taffy awoke this morning with a cold and fever and was promptly tucked back into bed by a local doctor. His two yearling substitutes weren't exactly helpless as hitters, but the defensive work of Short was hardly of big league caliber. Ground balls baffled him and he offended in another way by passing a runner on the baselines.

Dietrich Has Trouble.

Dietrich's labors started with a pass to Davis in the second inning. Elliott flied to right center and Rosenthal should have caught the ball with ease if Rookie Short hadn't scared him off. Two runs scored a bit later on a legitimate double to right by Gustine. Then Dietrich's misery was intensified by four singles in the third, followed by Rookie Kiner's homer to left. The homer accounted for three of the five runs.

Sparta, Viking Teams Win in Peel Cup Play

BY OFFSIDE.

Sparta defeated the Kickers, 5 to 1, and the Vikings beat the German-Americans, 3 to 2, yesterday in the features of seven first round games in the Peel cup competition for the state title.

In other cup games, Hansa defeated the Star Models of Dalzell, 3 to 1, Moline beat the Center Sport club, 6 to 3, the American Eagles won from Wisla, 3 to 1, the Solvaks eliminated the South Side Swedes, 3 to 0, and the Linneas gained a costly victory over the Norwegians, 1 to 0. They lost the services of Steve Torley due to a broken leg.

The Vikings played 30 minutes of overtime to survive, Roscoe Anderson scoring the winning goal. Earlier in the extra period, Nels Dalquist scored for the Vikings on a penalty shot and Hans Mueller did likewise for the German-Americans. The first 42 minures of the game were scoreless, after which Anderson took a pass from Nels Bostrom and counted the opening goal. Willie List tied it up two minutes later, shooting past the Vikings' goalie from 10 yards following a 40 yard run. Neither team scored in the second 45 minute period.

Sparta got away to a 2 to 0 lead in the first 18 minutes on goals by Jerry Rezek and Jimmy MacDermott. With five minutes left in the first period, Achilles Geler drove into the goal after a penalty against Tom Scott for the Kickers' lone tally. Frank Trimmel scored twice and Billy Fraser once in the second period.

Olympia and Fichte played two ties in an exhibition double header, 3 to 3, and 2 to 2, the latter a battle between reserve teams. Slovak reserves tied the South Side Swedes' Seconds, 2 to 2.

PLANE MAKER'S 2 YEAR GOAL IS 35,000 ENGINES

Many Improvements by United Aircraft.

A promise that 35,000 military airplane engines would be delivered within two years marked the annual report of the United Aircraft corporation sent stockholders yesterday by Frederick B. Rentschler, chairman, and Eugene E. Wilson, president. Development of a fighting plane with a speed of more than 400 miles an hour and production of another plane that stands still in the air or even may be backed up were announced.

The corporation's Pratt & Whitney aircraft division has undertaken to supply approximately 35,000 engines to the army and navy and to the British government within the two government fiscal years ending June 30, 1942, the report said. In addition the company has licensed the Buick division of General Motors and the Ford Motor company to build Pratt & Whitney engines on a nominal royalty basis of $1 an engine.

Will Make 10,000 Annually.

It is expected that Buick and Ford will produce about 10,000 engines of this type annually. Buick will produce the engines in a plant at Melrose Park [Chicago area] for which ground is to be broken at the end of this month.

The report said that an outstanding achievement of the year was the development of the new navy Vought single seat fighter by the Vought-Sikorsky aircraft division. Powered by a 2,000 horsepower new Pratt & Whitney radial air cooled engine, it is said to have traveled at a speed of more than 400 miles an hour. The same division also developed during the year the Vought-Sikorsky helicopter "which can rise straight up from the ground, hover motionless, fly forward, backward, or sideways, and land by vertical descent without any landing run."

Advanced Type Supercharger.

Other developments included an advanced type of supercharger which permits the development of high engine powers at great altitudes, and further improvements in quick feathering propellers. Vought-Sikorsky is building three 4-engine flying boats for nonstop trans-Atlantic service.

The report showed that the company is taking a stand in the current controversy over the merits of air and liquid cooled engines.

"The officers of the corporation continue their unbroken faith in the highly developed American air cooled radial engine," the report said. "It is believed that the advent of an engine of 2,000 horse power will render obsolete all smaller engines, regardless of type, for those categories of pursuit and bombing planes in which the requirements of performance and for load carrying ability are continually increasing.

Equal British Performance.

"The performance of navy Vought fighters is of the same order as the high speeds that are understood to have been attained by new British fighters equipped with newly developed liquid cooled engines of powers approaching 2,000 horse power."

The report said that studies indicate that "for airplanes of equal size and military effectiveness, the plane with the air cooled engine will substantially equal the high speed of that with the liquid cooled engine and will surpass it in takeoff and climbing ability." It maintains that in respect to "cost production, man hours, durability, and reliability" the air cooled engine is "far superior" to the liquid cooled engine.

Plant Expansion Figures.

The report said that plant expansion for British and French orders—the British have taken over all French orders—totaled $15,975,000 and that expansion for American needs will amount to approximately $18,160,000, as at present estimated. The plant to meet American needs is expected to be running at full capacity by the middle of the summer.

Unfilled orders of the company on Dec. 31 totaled $445,122,070. The company reported for 1940 a gain of 150 per cent in sales over 1939 and an increase of only 40 per cent in profits. Net income for 1940 was $13,139,984, or $4.94 a share, compared with net income of $9,375,436, or $3.53 a share in 1939. Shipments totaled $126,754,830 in 1940 compared with $51,161,599 in 1939. More than 70 per cent of shipments went to the British.

HOUDRY PROCESS.

Being a stockholder in the Standard Oil Company of California, I would like to get some information about the Houdry process which will be used by the company in its new $4,500,000 plant at El Segundo, Cal. Do you have any details about the owner of the process?—J. E.

Answer: The Houdry catalytic cracking process is a method of obtaining high test gasolines by refining low grade crude oils and refinery residues [such as heavy fuel oil and asphalt] thru the use of a chemical catalyst, aluminum silicate.

The cracking method was discovered in 1926 in France by Eugene Houdry, a mechanical engineer and chemist, but was not developed commercially on a large scale until he brought the process to the United States in 1930 and interested the old Vacuum Oil company.

The Houdry Process corporation, with 330,000 shares of $10 par capital stock, was formed in 1931, with Vacuum holding one-third, and Houdry and his French associates the remainder. The next year Vacuum merged into Socony-Vacuum Oil company. In 1935 the Sun Oil company acquired a one-third interest in the Houdry company by purchasing the necessary shares from the French group.

The advantage of the Houdry process, as advanced by its owners, is that it enables a refinery to extract 80 per cent or more of high octane gasoline from low grade oil and residues, compared with about a 44 per cent average recovery of ordinary gasoline by the heat-pressure method in general use in the petroleum industry. Competitive catalytic cracking processes have been developed by other companies.

More than 10 million dollars has been invested in perfecting the process and the apparatus to operate it, according to the company. More than 15 plants with a combined daily capacity of 200,000 barrels of oil are equipped to use the Houdry method. The Standard Oil Company of California purchased a license for the process two years ago.

The Houdry company derives its income from license and engineering service fees and from the sale of catalysts. Net profit in 1939 was $353,784, equal to $1.08 a share, compared with $1,059,428, or $3.24 a share, in 1938, and $983,844, or $3.01 a share, in 1937.

The following dividends were paid on the company's stock in recent years: 1935, $5 a share; 1936, $2; 1937, $3; 1938, $2.50, and 1939, $1. The company's earnings and dividends in 1940 have not been reported as yet. Approximately 850 stockholders own the outstanding 327,280 shares and the remaining 2,720 shares are held in the company treasury.

Tariff Revision Viewed as Key to Latin Trade

If the United States is to compete successfully for South American trade its merchant marine must be strengthened and its tariff program revised, Dean James E. McCarthy of the college of commerce, University of Notre Dame, declared yesterday. He spoke at a meeting of the university's alumni business forum in the Knickerbocker hotel.

Dean McCarthy said America's annual trade with Central and South America has depended upon a triangular pattern of commerce for many years. Only because of profits made thru shipment of exports to Europe have South Americans been able to buy this nation's products, he said.

Natural Markets Cited.

He said trans-Atlantic nations are natural markets for South American foodstuffs, and unless this country is willing to adopt a broad, long term trade policy "at the cessation of hostilities in Europe the South Americans will return to bartering arrangements that will block most of present trade agreements.

"The Latins naturally feel we should buy more of their products," he said, "but despite all the 'good neighbor' talk I have detected no disposition on the part of our national legislature to lower tariff barriers that may bring about such results.

"If we are to enjoy a profitable South American trade in the future, we must if necessary help to create markets for the things they are currently able to provide. Eventually a normal demand will develop below the equator for the manufactured luxuries, such as radios and washing machines, which now are regarded as necessities in this country."

Shortage in Shipping.

There is a shortage in shipping bottoms for South American trade, he said, altho the extent is hidden by the government's refusal to disclose figures. Reasons for this are the transfer of American vessels to foreign registry and the army's purchases of boats for use as troop transports, he said.

Dean McCarthy has been a student of South American affairs for the last quarter century. He lived in Buenos Aires before coming to Notre Dame and was a member of the American Social Service commission to Venezuela in 1939.

STEEL DEMAND HOLDING STRONG, SURVEY SHOWS

Cleveland, O., March 9 (AP).—No easing of pressure on the steel industry is in sight for the second half of 1941, and some users have even implied that they are willing to buy for 1942 delivery, the magazine Steel, said today.

"The over-all picture is one of continuing record breaking buying," its review said. "An epidemic of 'machinery fatigue' has developed on a mild scale. Strikes hinder in several areas and shortages of certain coating and alloying materials cut production in several instances, such as galvanized sheet manufacture which has fallen 4 points in a week to 77 per cent."

PAY OUT 15 KINDS TAXES AND THERE GOES THE PROFIT

New York, March 9 [Special].—Taxes wiped out all profits of the Hudson & Manhattan railroad company in 1940, according to the annual report issued today by Walter F. Brown, chairman of the board.

"After paying 15 different kinds of direct municipal, state, and federal taxes aggregating $1,236,927," he said, "a sum equal to $2.73 on each share of capital stock outstanding, the company's deficit resulting from all operations was $961,235, or $32,158 less than the deficit in 1939."

Authorize Southland Paper to Borrow and Sell Stock

Lufkin, Tex., March 9 (AP).—Stockholders of Southland Paper Mills, Inc., have have authorized the directors to borrow $2,100,000 from the Reconstruction Finance corporation and sell $900,000 of stock for expansion.

PRIOR PAYMENT OFFER:

Bondholders may at their option surrender such bonds in the manner above described at any time after January 21, 1941 and prior to the redemption date at either of the above offices and receive the amount of principal and premium, as provided above, and accrued interest to April 1, 1941, on the bonds so surrendered.

ELGIN WATCH'S SALES AT NEW PEAK THIS YEAR

Net Earnings in 1940 Are $3.85 a Share.

T. Albert Potter, president of the Elgin National Watch company, in issuing his 1940 report showing the largest earnings since 1929, told stockholders yesterday that company sales for the first two months of 1941 exceeded those of any corresponding period in its history.

Last year's net earnings were $1,540,149, equal to $3.85 a share, against $1,214,501, or $3.03 a share, in 1939. The 1929 figure was $1,972,971, or $4.98 a share. The company recently received substantial orders for ammunition components and other military materials, but Potter said, "It is not expected that this business will add materially to the company's profits."

Tax Bill Boosted.

The company's 1940 tax bill rose to $1,017,893, from $444,031 in 1939. Earned surplus rose to $4,144,182 at the year end, from $2,500,137 at the close of 1939, reflecting the transfer of $1,303,896 from a general inventory reserve provided in 1932 and regarded no longer necessary.

Sales and earnings of the McGraw Electric company established new peaks in 1940, Max McGraw, president, said in his annual report to stockholders. Sales of toasters and other electric appliances manufactured by the company at Elgin increased nearly 50 per cent during the first two months of 1941, in comparison with last year, he said.

Last year's sales were $8,262,043, and net earnings rose to $1,454,932, equal to $3.07 a share. The 1939 sales were $6,919,554, and net earnings were $1,413,182, or $2.99 a share.

Pays Much More in Taxes.

The company provided $756,450 for federal and state income taxes last year, including $218,000 for the excess profits tax, compared with $338,200 in income taxes for 1939.

McGraw said that work will start soon on plant construction at Elgin expected to double the company's manufacturing space.

Pittsburgh Coal company, largest commercial producer of bituminous coal, reported net earnings for the year ended Dec. 31, were $1,255,893, against a net loss of $1,068,787 in 1939. J. B. Morrow, president, and Augustus Oliver, chairman, said that the net figures for 1939 and 1940, however, "do not directly compare" because of the seven week mine shut down in 1939 and because of "certain changes in depreciation and in accounting policy" which accounted for $682,000 of the 1940 net profit.

Phelps Dodge corporation, large copper producer, earned $12,603,980, equal to $2.49 a share in 1940, compared with $12,278,601, or $2.42 a share, in 1939.

Reveal Britain Rich in Much U.S. Must Get

ing up reserves of arms and munitions required in a titanic armament and aid Britain effort, are rubber and tin. The following is an analysis, containing much information heretofore unpublished, of our dependence on British sources for these products.

RUBBER.

Crude rubber imports recently have been the highest on record, and principally from British Malaya. Production is controled by an international rubber cartel, established in 1934 by representatives of the British and the Dutch, French, and Thai [Siamese] governments.

Crude rubber is not produced in the United States, altho synthetic rubber has been manufactured on an experimental scale. The cost, however, is about treble that of natural rubber. We have less than two years' supply of rubber on hand despite an extensive buying program by the government, which has made commitments for 430,000 tons to date, at an estimated cost of 190 million dollars—of which 72,644 tons has been delivered so far—and a barter deal with the British under which we traded cotton for rubber.

The United States is virtually dependent upon the British product, as it would require 10 to 15 years for any sizable production in Latin America. About 70 per cent of our rubber consumption is used for tires on which our motorized armies and transportation system depend more than ever.

The total imports of crude rubber from all countries for recent years [admitted duty free], with three ciphers omitted, and the principal countries from which they were received, were:

Total Imports	$125,400	$178,100	$317,700
British Malaya	73,800	94,400	165,400
Netherlands Indies	33,800	47,000	112,200
Ceylon	8,500	12,800	21,200
French Indo-China	6,700	9,300	10,800
Brazil	900	1,400	1,900
British India	700	1,100	1,700
United Kingdom	127	31	....

TIN.

The United States is entirely dependent upon foreign sources for its supply of tin, one of the commodities needed most for its preparedness program. Present supplies will last only 15 months, according to the bureau of mines. About 50 per cent of the tin consumed in this country is used for coating steel and the remainder for alloys and chemicals.

British Malaya, the United Kingdom, and the Netherlands Indies—a British ally—have been our principal sources and we can use all that they will supply.

The American government has embarked on a tin-buying program and to date has made commitments for 201,000 tons, of which 22,761 tons has been delivered. Foreign competition drove our tin smelting industry out of business in 1924, but arrangements have been made for a new domestic smelter to produce about 18,000 tons annually from Bolivian ore, or only about one-fifth of our normal requirements.

Our recent tin imports in blocks and bars [admitted duty free] from all countries, with three ciphers omitted and the principal countries from which they were received, are as follows:

British Malaya	32,900	47,100	98,599
United Kingdom	3,200	10,800	4,982
Netherlands Indies	2,700	5,400	12,916

[In tomorrow's article the dependence of the United States on British territories for diamonds, nickel, and wool will be discussed.]

WARNER'S 1940 PROFIT RISES TO $1.18 PER SHARE

Year's Sales Mount 13 Per Cent.

Net profits of the Stewart-Warner corporation increased last year to $1,470,804, equal to $1.18 a share, from $553,224, or 45 cents a share, in 1939, James S. Knowlson, president and chairman of the board, told shareholders yesterday in his annual report. Indicated profit for the fourth quarter was $476,120, equal to 38 cents a share, against $297,015, or 24 cents a share, in the December quarter of 1939.

Chicago factories of the company several months ago began the production of fuses and other ammunition components, supplementing the manufacture of household appliances, automotive equipment, and other regular commercial products.

Plans Arms Production.

Knowlson told shareholders the company is preparing to produce parts for airplane engines, ammunition boxes for army tanks, and other military products.

Stewart-Warner's 1940 sales were $29,272,500, or 13 per cent over the 1939 level of $25,825,829. Income taxes rose 564 per cent, from $124,715 to $828,037.

"The company's total tax bill reached $1,855,000 in 1940," Knowlson said. "While there are considerable grounds for argument as to the extent to which taxes affect profits, there can be no question but that taxes are paid by the consumer and are reflected at least partially in the market prices of goods sold."

Year of Preparation.

On the subject of military production, he said: "Our promises to the ordnance department have been met, or bettered.

"By and large the year was one of preparation, rather than production. Actual billings on defense contracts amounted to less than 2 per cent of our sales, but the backlog of unfilled orders is in excess of 25 per cent of last year's total corporate business."

Salesmen.

Exceptional Opportunity

I want to give to every sales minded man in Chicago district the opportunity of seeing the wonderful electrical product that is financed by the United States government through the EHFA on the basis that every one can afford to buy. Because of our new sales program, whereby our men receive their entire full commission on all sales, they are able to draw from $100 to $200 per week.

We have changed the lives of hundreds of men and their families from poverty, worries, and despair to happiness, contentment, and independence. One hour of your time may mean the most profitable investment you have made in your lifetime. Twenty-two of our men have been promoted in the last few months to distributorships with remuneration of $10,000 a year and up.

Cut this ad out now, answer all other ads—then at 11 a. m. Monday call at 510 N. Dearborn, Room 528—no other time. Rogers Park, Evanston, Waukegan applicants favored.
